British Radio Warns Nazis:

ALLIED DRIVE 'AT ANY MOMENT'

By International News Service

The British Radio said today in a German-language broadcast directed to Europe that "any moment the European phase of the great Allied offensive may be expected, an offensive from the west, co-ordinated with Russian operations in the east," according to CBS.

YANKS TAKE DARE, LICK NAZIS, NAB 80

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 25 (AP)—United States troops, accepting a dare from Axis forces opposing them, raided the town of Maknassy, only 33 miles from the Gulf of Gabes, and captured 80 enemy soldiers, it was announced today.

A military spokesman said the raid—obviously in force—was made after the enemy dropped a note on the U. S. lines taunting: "Why won't the Americans come out and fight?"

The answering slap at the troops of Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim came as French, British and American forces halted the menacing German thrust down the Ousseltia valley, more than 100 miles to the north.

Thus they checkmated a play for possession of the heights dominating the Kairouan Plains and a long section of the coastal communication routes.

While the Maknassy action was simply a raid, it suggests American forces may be mobilizing above the Chott Djerid wastelands for a slash at the coastal roads and the Gabes-Sfax railway, which would outflank the Germans campaigning to the north in the Ousseltia valley.

RESCUE FRENCH WOUNDED

American patrols scouted the area northwest of the town of Ousseltia, between the Axis bases at Kairouan and Pont du Fahs, and brought back a number of French wounded who had fallen before the tank-supported German drive last week.

Further particulars of the Axis challenge which was answered by the Maknassy raid were lacking, but it was assumed the raiders started from behind Sanad, 22 miles to the west and about 26 miles northeast of Gafsa.

Sanad is the most easterly Point known to have been held recently by Allied forces in that region.

American medium and heavy bombers continued their aerial onslaught against Axis airdromes and shipping facilities.

TAKE OTHER PRISONERS

The spokesman said between 25 and 30 Axis aircraft were believed destroyed on the ground when two waves of U. S. medium bombers struck yesterday at an airdrome immediately west of Mendenine, into which it was thought Rommel may be withdrawing the remainder of his ground and air forces. Mendenine is 60 miles west of the Tripolitanian frontier.

In addition to the 80 Axis troops captured by the Americans near

New Red Sweep Menaces Rostov

MOSCOW, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Red army of the north Caucasus has smashed through German resistance to the rolling plains of Rostov province, capturing the railroad city of Peschanokopskoye and threatening the key German stronghold at Rostov, 95 miles to the northwest, from its softest flank, the Russians said today.

This important advance in the Russian drive to destroy all the German forces south of Rostov was reported a few hours after a special Russian communique announced the capture of Starobelsk, 125 miles southeast of Kharkov, the important industrial center of the Ukraine. Other Russian forces, farther north, already are within 78 miles of Kharkov.

The mid-day communique said that in this area where the Russians have pressed closest to ancient Kharkov another enemy group had been liquidated and 1100 officers and men taken prisoner. Included in the booty, it was reported, were 260 trucks. Another unidentified community was said to have been captured.

Many successes from Voronezh to the farthest German outposts in the northwest Caucasus also were reported.

The entire eastern and central regions of the Caucasus have now been cleared of the Germans and the remaining Nazi troops there are concentrated in the northwest, Russian advices said.

Berlin Admits Loss Of Voronezh to Reds

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The German high command communique broadcast today by the Berlin radio said Axis troops had evacuated Voronezh on the upper Don.

The communique said that "in order to shorten the front the bridgehead of Voronezh was evacuated according to plan and without interference by the enemy." The Russians never have conceded Axis troops were in possession of the city.

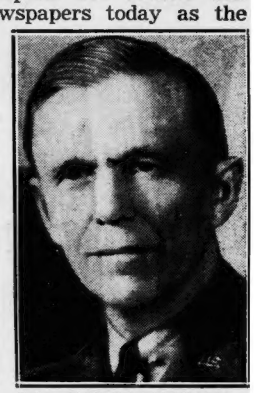
Marshall Seen Invasion Chief

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Speculation that Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the U. S. Army, might be appointed commander-in-chief of Allied forces in the European war theater was published in British newspapers today as the press continued to place great emphasis on Allied strategy for 1943.

SIR PERCY NOBLE



GEN. GEORGE MARSHALL

Establishment of a joint British-American administrative system for North Africa, designed to merge all the diverse French political elements now seeking control, also is believed one of the subjects under discussion in inter-Allied strategy conferences.

Agreement upon some formula for a supreme council to direct and unify the United Nations' drive for victory next year was reported in diplomatic circles to have been attained.

Unofficial British commentators, maintaining intense interest in Allied "win the war" plans which were believed to be already made or in the final draft, predicted that an official announcement was imminent.

Circles close to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Fighting French leader, said he would not willingly consent to organization of a non-French regime for the French Empire.

Observers believed, however, that this might be the only solution of the tangled politics of North Africa if De Gaulle and Gen. Henri Giraud, French-African high commissioner, are unable to reach an agreement at a meeting they are scheduled to hold shortly

Walter Farr, Washington correspondent of the Daily Mail, reported it was the view of some "keen observers" in Washington that Gen. Marshall was to be named generalissimo of the Allied armies in the European theater.

Farr, who gave the first tip to Britons of Churchill's visit to Washington in December, 1941, also speculated that Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Noble, head of the British admiralty delegation in Washington, might be appointed supreme commander of the anti-U-boat campaign.

Only last week, Noble emphasized the gravity of the U-boat problem at a Washington press conference and said it would "take all our strength, resources and ingenuity" to beat the submarine.

British newspapers emphasized what they called Secretary of State Hull's "broad hint" that the United Nations were setting up new machinery which would lead to more intensive and better integrated action.

Press discussions also revolved about a 1943 offensive of tremendous scope designed to defeat the Axis within the next year.

It was evident there was no optimism about the possibility of an early internal collapse in Germany and almost all discussions proceeded from the premise that a distinct and smashing military defeat must be inflicted.

Speculation as to the basis on which Allied strategy was being planned included these views on the possibilities open to Hitler.

1—Fight a defensive war through the winter and attempt to knock out Russia with a great spring offensive.

2—Attack Gibraltar through Spain in an attempt to close the western end of the Mediterranean.

3—Make the long-awaited and perilous attempt to invade England.

Official sources refused any comment on the various reports in circulation, but their persistence was indicated by the fact that even Nazi-controlled radio stations were broadcasting stories of "important political conversations under way in Washington."

MRS. CATHERINE SWANSON, 68, AND GRANDCHILDREN
She, Eddie Leonard and Marie Schubbe Felled by Fumes

FUMES FELL 6, 11 RESCUED IN WEST ROXBURY

Six persons collapsed and 11 others narrowly escaped death today as gas fumes swept through four homes in Edgemere rd., West Roxbury.

Mrs. Dorothy Kelble, 37, and her five children were overcome. Others affected included:

Mrs. Evelyn Leonard, her daughter, Marie Schubbe, 11, and 18 months' old son, Edward, Jr., and Mrs. Leonard's mother, Mrs. Catherine Swanson, 68; Leroy G. Lewis, 63, ill in bed with pneumonia, his wife, Bertha, 60, and her mother, Mrs. Lelia Wright, 88; Mrs. Adolph Jackle, her two sons, Adolph, Jr., 2½, Carl, 5 weeks, and a niece, Jean Johnson, 8.

FELT "DIZZY"

Mrs. Kelble awakened about 7:15 a. m. and called to her children. As she started for the children's bedroom on the second floor she said that she felt "dizzy."

In the bedroom she found her daughters, Collette, 10, gasping for breath, and Rita, 13, ill. Muriel, 5; James, 4, and Harold, 20 months, overcome.

Mrs. Kelble said she crawled to the windows and threw them open. In her own words:

"I'll never know how I managed to reach next door (34 Edgemere rd.) and arouse my neighbor, Mrs. Henry Meyer. I remember leaning against the doorbell to keep from falling. I finally aroused Mrs. Meyer and I guess I collapsed."

POLICE CALLED

Mrs. Meyer summoned police, and with the assistance of Dr. Andrew E. Spognardi awakened the neighborhood and administered first aid to the residents in 44-46-47 Edgemere rd.

The Kelbles recently converted from oil to coal. The husband, Oliver, had left for work at the Edison Co. at 5 a. m.

Mrs. Kelble told police yesterday her daughter, Collette, had complained of feeling ill, and "smelled gas." There are no gas connections in the Kelble residence, and at the time it was thought it might have been coal gas fumes.

Police said they found the Kelbly cellar filled with gas fumes.

Boston Consolidated Gas repair crews were summoned and began tracing the fumes.

East Boston Sex Fiend Given Life

For the second time within 10 days, Superior Judge Frank J. Donahue today sentenced to life imprisonment a man charged with a sex offense.

Today's life sentence was given to Tony A. Golisano, 20, of Liverpool st., East Boston, who was found guilty of assault and battery with intent to attack criminally a 10-year-old girl last Dec. 6.

Golisano, a first offender, was committed for observation to Boston State Hospital, but in a letter to the court Dr. Harold F. Norton, hospital superintendent, said that while the accused was a moron, he was not insane.

Atty. Alfred Santosuosso, however, pleaded today that the truck driver be confined in a hospital rather than in prison. To the plea, Judge Donahue replied:

"I can't do that. He isn't insane. It isn't a case of punishment. It's a case of protecting the public.

Murder in Lower 13 Still Baffles Police

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 25 (AP)—The slaying of comely Mrs. Martha Virginia Brinson James, 21, whose throat was slit as she lay in lower berth 13 of a California-bound train, grew more mystifying today.

Clues abounded, but police in their third day of investigating the strange death of a Navy ensign's bride said they could determine no motive and could find no suspects.

They held two men for questioning at Klamath Falls, Marine Pvt. Harold R. Wilson, 22, Buckley, Wash., who slept in upper 13, and John Funches, 30, Oakland, Cal., dining car waiter on the train, but emphasized there was no evidence to connect them with the crime.

They issued a John Doe warrant for the arrest of a third man, an unidentified Negro, who was believed to have been a passenger, although trainmen could find no record of him.

AT Los Angeles detectives today met the train on which Mrs. James was slain and took Robert Folks, 21, Negro second cook, into custody for questioning.

Folkes said he had no connection with the slaying. He was detained on the request of Dist.-Atty. Harlow L. Weinreck of Albany, Ore.

STORY OF CRIME

Portland police said this was the story of the killing:

Mrs. James, daughter of a prominent Norfolk, Va., family, was following her husband of four months, Ensign Richard F James, also of a prominent Virginia family, after a routine Navy transfer from Seattle.

About 4 a. m. Saturday as the train neared Tangent, Ore., two men in berths near Mrs. James heard a woman exclaim, "I can't take this any longer," and then, "My God, this man is killing me." A scream followed.

One of the men, Engene Norton, Daly City, Cal., looked into the train aisle immediately. He said he saw Pvt. Wilson lifting Mrs. James, who had sprawled into the aisle.

Blood spurted from a neck wound, and Norton said, "It

Officials investigating the slash-slaying of Mrs. Martha James, 21-year-old bride of a naval officer, in a sleeper of a San Francisco-bound train, today held a Negro dining car waiter for questioning while continuing efforts to solve the baffling crime. Mrs. James was heard to scream, "My God, he's killing me," by two passengers.

ARMY CALLS ROTC MEN TO DUTY NOW

All New England college students now enlisted in the reserve corps will be called to active Army duty within a few days, the Army's First Service Command was notified today from Washington.

Contrary to custom, students must report to Fort Devens, instead of returning to their home service commands.

At Harvard, a spokesman in the president's office stated that such an order had been expected for some time, but no details had been supplied.

At the various educational institutions throughout Greater Boston, officals said the full effect of the order on college and university routine could be determined immediately.

The order, as released by headquarters, follows:

"College students in the enlisted Reserve Corps will be called to active duty at the end of the first semester, term or quarter terminating after Dec. 31, 1942, except as follows:

"All medical and pre-medical students including dental and veterinary; approved engineering course students who are classified as sophomores, juniors or seniors; advanced course ROTC Senior Unit students; all sophomores in essentially military colleges classified as 'M. C.' colleges by the War Department, students in the electronic training group and aviation cadets.

"Presidents of colleges in which Enlisted Reserve Corps students are enrolled will be notified to this effect by their service commanders upon receipt of this radio. Detailed instructions to follow."

One outstandig difference exists in this new order, local Army headquarters officials stated today.

"In most previous cases the students could go home and report for active duty in their home service commands," it was stated.

"Under the new order all students in New England colleges will be called on to report at Fort Devens. Details as to how this new order will be put into operation will follow soon."

FLYNN DEFENSE SET TO OPEN

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25 (INS)—Defense attorneys today prepared to take the leading role in what promises to be the third and final week of the trial of Errol Flynn on the attack charges of two teen-age girls.

The first of 10 defense witnesses were to take the stand this morning before the jury of nine women and three men in the court of Superior Judge Leslie E. Still.

Jerry Giesler

Declaring himself anxious to tell at last his own story of his acquaintanceship with Peggy La Rue Satterlee, 16, and Betty Hansen, 17, Flynn indicated, however, he did not expect to testify personally until just before the case is submitted to the jury.

Chief Counsel Jerry Giesler said he expected to wind up his direct examination of witnesses within two days, but possible rebuttal witnesses may delay a verdict until the end of the week.

GOVERNOR CHOPS BUDGET

A biennium budget totalling $156,590,709.16 was recommended to the legislature today by Governor Saltonstall. The last biennium budget totaled $187,055,505.21. The budget will operate on the new fiscal years from July 1, 1943, to June 30, 1945, which will coincide with federal government fiscal years.

The governor's budget calls for appropriations of $59,660,883.21 from the general fund in the fiscal year of 1943-44 and $58,123,934.95 from the general fund for 1944-45, which is $5,000,000 less than the previous biennium.

The budget also calls for $14,554,625 from the highway fund in the fiscal year of 1943-44 and $10,451,266 from the highway fund for the fiscal year of 1944-45, which is $16,500,000 less than the previous biennium. The latter does not take into account reduction in the recommended distribution to cities and towns from the highway fund. This, because of reduced revenues, has been reduced from $20,000,000 distribution to $13,900,000.

In spite of reduction in highway fund distribution the net state tax for the two fiscal years covered by the budget recommendations will be $5,000,000. This is the lowest net state tax in any two year period in more than 30 years. It is $3,500,000 less than the previous biennium.

Reduction of the state debt of $7,644,500 brings the net debt of the state to $3,116,215.37, which is a net reduction of over 92 per cent of the debt outstanding on Dec. 1, 1938, and brings the debt to the lowest point in the 20th century.

The governor has recommended replacing the temporary salary increase of State employes of 10 per cent with a war emergency compensation of 12.5 per cent with no annual increase of less than $175 nor more than $350 This will represent a total of $3,030,000 in the total biennium budget.

$3,000,000 BOND ISSUE

The only recommended bond issue is a $3,000,000 10-year bond issue to finance improvements to East Boston airport, which will place the airport in condition to handle post-war as well as present military needs. At present the large army bombers must use Westover field in Massachusetts or Windsor Locks in Connecticut.

Other recommendations include restoring the war emergency fund to $7,000,000 to be used for all emergencies during the war. Former emergency funds are included. The writing off of the final balance of approximately $600,000 carried in closed banks and the setting up of a reserve against shrinkage in revenue in the highway fund, which would guarantee the distribution to cities and towns of highway fund money, and guard against the folding up of the highway department.

The governor also recommended no capital improvements be made with the exception of construction replacements at a cost of $125,000.

300 HUB FREIGHT HANDLERS STRIKE; VITAL GOODS TIED UP

STRIKE-BOUND FREIGHT TERMINAL IN SO. BOSTON TODAY

Tieing up hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of perishable commodities, 300 freight handlers and clerks went on strike today at the freight terminal at Fargo and C sts., South Boston.

Except to state that the strike resulted from a dispute between two American Federation of Labor factions, none of those concerned with the walkout would explain the stoppage of work.

Meanwhile, hundreds of large trucks, many of them coming long distances and using important gasoline to no purpose, were compelled either to return to their areas without the goods for which they had come, or to lay over near the platforms until the strike ends.

According to some of the strikers, the dispute between the two factions has been submitted to the War Labor Board and the strike was suddenly called today, despite the fact that the WLB has made no ruling yet.

G. O. P. Club to Hear Cahill Talk Tonight

MORE HUB OIL NOW, BUT NEW CRISIS NEAR

Higher temperatures and increased kerosene shipments brought temporary relief to harassed Greater Boston home owners today but officials continued study of plans to handle any recurrence of heating emergencies.

Solid Fuels Co-Ordinator Harold L. Ickes sounded a warning that the situation "remains acute" and urged "extreme caution" in distributing coal supplies, increased by resumption of anthracite coal mining.

Ickes estimated anthracite production would be 1,350,000 tons weekly when all hard coal mines operate on a six-day week. He said production during the week ending Jan. 16 was nearly 343,000 tons below normal output due to the strike.

SOFT COAL UP

Bituminous coal production shot up to 11,500,000 tons in the week ending Jan. 9, Ickes said. This increase was due to efforts of the soft coal industry to relieve the anthracite shortage.

In Boston, OPA authorities tomorrow will meet with state and municipal officials to prepare plans to handle "hardship cases" in the event the fuel situation again becomes serious.

The group plans establishment of a central clearing house for such cases.

Penal Institutions Commr. Joseph P. Donahue said 600,000 gallons of oil will be saved at Deer Island as a result of the closing of several buildings.

PEDLARS PROTEST

Prisoners were shifted to coal-heated dormitories, Donahue said, and some buildings were converted from oil to coal.

Meanwhile, Boston dealers and pedlars protested a plan which would permit sale of kerosene at auto filling stations. Spokesmen for the "little fellows" declared the proposal would ruin them since they are limited to selling 10 gallons to a customer. The new plan would allow sales in 50-gallon lots at stations.

A protest meeting of pedlars will be held Wednesday night in Intercolonial Hall, Roxbury.

Many Rhode Island Stores Shut Today

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 25 (AP)—Retail stores throughout Rhode Island shut up shop today in accordance with Governor J. Howard McGrath's five-day week order to help save fuel. Wholesale houses which closed Saturday were open today under an option to do business on either Saturday or Monday. The produce terminal was a general exception.

Public buildings remained open, but hereafter will close Saturdays. Banks and office buildings follow the Saturday closing. Department stores, grocers, variety shops and liquor establishments constituted the bulk of today's closings.

Baby deer, probably from the Middlesex Falls reservation in Stoneham, comes to town to see the sights and becomes the center of interest in Chelsea . . . where police and volunteers staged a mile-long chase . . . Finally, aged pursuer caught the animal, and Animal Rescue League took it in custody.

DEER HAS HER FUN WITH COPS

Gentle Fawn Leads Merry Chase in Chelsea

It was safari today in Chelsea, where Police Chief Charles M. Finn, three of his stalwarts, an untotaled number of volunteers and an unidentified old man who finally triumphed in the case—though flat on his back in a pool of water—took part in a fogbound deer hunt.

Where all the others had failed, the elderly man triumphed and came to earth in the pool with the young doe, or fawn, clasped firmly in his arms, resting on his chest and ingloriously kicking with sharp hoofs.

This was in an open area off Broadway, a mile from where the fawn had been sighted, surrounded and then had broken through the encirclement as the fog swirled.

COPS TO THE CHASE

The young deer—to which spring evidently had come early—is believed to have escaped the Middlesex Fells reservation at Stoneham.

It was first sighted off Eastern ave., in the rear of the Forbes Lithograph plant, by Bert McCarthy of Stockton st., Chelsea, keeper of Merrit Park.

When the deer slipped into the park, McCarthy closed the gates, trapping her—he thought—in the children's reservation, which is enclosed by an eight-foot wire fence.

Then he called police, and because it is illegal to shoot deer, Chief Finn, Sergt. James Martin and two patrolmen equipped themselves with ropes, fashioned as lariats, and answered the hunters' call.

CAN'T LASSO HER

But they might as well have stood in bed, or stood in the guardroom, or stood wherever they were standing when the call came, because the fawn disdained all their efforts at lassoing, and once even astonished them by sailing gracefully over their heads.

Though they huffed and they puffed all across the little reservation, the deer would skip gaily ahead of them and, reversing its field, pull some other nimble trick that caught them flat-footed.

Meanwhile, the fast-gathering curious were cheering and a call had been sent to the Animal Rescue League for aid—and whether or not the fawn sensed this, she suddenly made for a 10-inch gap between the gates, shot into the space, wiggled—and was out and gone in the fog.

ONE BIG HUG DOES IT

The panting police stood there, baffled and unbelieving. The volunteers on the outside were streaming off through the swirling mists in a pursuit that seemed vain.

Without trace the little fawn had gone beyond sight.

Meanwhile the unidentified elderly gentleman a mile off along Broadway, Chelsea, sighted a creature foreign to those parts and went stalking it. He had neither rope nor authority, but he had guile and resiliency.

The fawn let him get a step too close. He lunged and grasped the fugitive in a full hug. They rolled over and over, coming to rest, supine both of them, in the puddle. The chase was over.

MAINE TO PAY VICTORY TAX

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 25 (AP)—Attorney General Frank I. Cowan today questioned the constitutionality of the Victory Tax on state employes' salaries, but ruled that "for the time being, we are fully justified in proceeding as though we fully admitted the validity of the act of Congress.

Cowan's opinion came at the request of Controller Albert L. Kane for a ruling.

"We are at war," Cowan said, "and the burden of collecting the tax from state employes and paying it over to the federal government is not a relatively heavy one."

The attorney general gave as basic reasons for doubting its validity the fact that "the tax is imposed by the federal government under such circumstances as apparently constitute a direct tax against the states."

Barbara Ann came here for a thrilling reason—to have her portrait done for a Cosmopolitan magazine cover by the famous artist and illustrator, Bradshaw Crandell. She stayed to see more of the city and enjoy a brief good time.

The War Today:

INDIA IS SEEN VITAL BASE TO WHIP JAP AFTER HITLER

After traveling in India for several weeks following a visit to Chungking, China, DeWitt Mackenzie resumes from New Delhi his column, "The War Today."

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

NEW DELHI, Jan. 22 (Delayed)—Looking at the world through the big end of a telescope—across flaming battlefields of Europe and Africa toward the ultimate battlefields of Asia—it seems increasingly clear this India from which I am writing will be needed as a major base—perhaps the major base—for defeat of the Oriental Huns.

That is a fact we shouldn't allow the smoke of the European conflict to obscure. India is vital.

The point is that in order to uproot and drive the Mikado's forces from the continent it will be necessary to recapture Burma and use it to equip Chiang Kai-Shek's armies. India will be at once the arsenal and strategic jumping off place for this grand finale.

BASE SECURE THERE

Thus it is good to receive authoritative assurances such as have been given me that India's security as a base is insured. They tell me it is being held safe, both as regards internal and external threats, unto the day when the Allied high command is ready to deal finally with shotgun militarism.

I have reported that big military personages here express confidence the danger of a successful Japanese invasion no longer exists.

Now qualified quarters assure me the authorities also have the internal situation securely in hand after six months of political disturbances since the breakdown of negotiations over Cripps' offer of Dominion status for India.

So far as concerns the military position there is no indication, either that the Japs intend to try invasion or that if they did they would be successful.

As to the political situation, the statement that things are wholly in hand undoubtedly represents a studied view of authorities. Certainly they are the ones who should know better than any one else what the exact state of affairs is and their apparent confidence is reassuring.

WAIT TILL HITLER'S OUT

This is a crucial moment when good will and unity of efforts are essential and those things are lacking among various parties to the controversy. In that sense India cannot be the same effective military base which it would be were political difficulties solved.

Just when India will be called upon for its supreme war effort is perhaps something which even the Allied high command cannot predict with certainty right now. Of course, operations are being conducted continually against the Japs in Burma and neighboring territory but it wouldn't be surprising if a grand offensive were not staged until Hitler has been knocked out.

Our Oriental allies apparently are becoming reconciled to this viewpoint although disagreeing with the policy of making defeat of the Axis in Europe the initial objective. They understand the military reasoning which designed Hitler as enemy number one, and the recent Allied successes in Russia and Libya have made this reasoning much more acceptable in the Orient.

SENATORS GIVE EDGE TO FLYNN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (INS) — Democratic Senate leaders today predicted Edward J. Flynn would win a favorable committee vote for his confirmation as minister to Australia.

Flynn faced vigorous opposition in the Senate, however, with the result that confirmation is not assured.

The showdown in the foreign relations committee, where the Democrats have a 15-to-8 majority, is slated for Wednesday. The nomination may not be placed before the Senate for debate before next Monday.

Sen. H. Styles Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire, who charged Flynn is unfit to represent the nation in the important diplomatic post in a theater of war, said he would continue his opposition.

The Anthracite Industry says "THANKS!"

THE anthracite strike is over.

All through it, eighty per cent of the regular anthracite production was mined and moved on schedule to keep our customers warm.

And the strike had another very heartening side. The way in which Americans met it was a good picture of democratic co-operation.

Our deep and sincere thanks go to everybody concerned.

To the public for level-headed conduct during the emergency. There was no panic, no hoarding. Most folks ordered coal only as they needed it, in moderate amounts.

To the press and radio, which contributed to the general calm by reporting events quickly and clearly.

To dealers, who delivered available anthracite as fairly as possible, as fast as possible, so that no home was cold as far as we know.

To the 71,000 miners who did not strike, but dug hard and deep to help meet the situation.

Finally, to the 17,000 miners who have gone back to work.

That kind of teamwork got results — and it will get results in the year to come.

The coal cars are really rolling now. Production is climbing fast. We expect to fill the tremendous quota of 65 million tons that Secretary Ickes has set for 1943. We expect to have enough anthracite for our millions of old customers and the thousands of new ones who have converted from other fuels.

There's one more way in which you can do your patriotic part. Please don't scramble for coal now, if you have enough on hand to meet your immediate needs — so that those who need coal most can be served first.

That's the American spirit in action — the spirit that unites neighbors — and nations!

S. A. WOODS CO. GETS BACK PLANT, $889,491 FROM U. S.

The S. A. Woods Machine Co.'s 92-year-old South Boston plant, which was seized by the government last August on Presidential order was returned today to the owners—and the company was granted judgment of $889,491.73 by Federal Judge Francis J. W. Ford.

The plant, which was negaged in the production of "vtial war materials," became involved in a labor disput and refused to obey a War Labor Board order.

President Roosevelt ordered Sec. of War Henry L. Stimpson to take over the plant on Aug. 19.

Army troops, equipped with machine guns, rifles and gas masks, marched in that night.

SEVENTH PLAN SEIZED

Seizure of the company's buildings was accomplished without violence. It was the second time within a week, and the seventh time since the current national emergency that the government had exercised its power to take over a private industry.

The plant, at the time, was not strike-bound. Approximately 700 employes had continued at their posts despite the labor controversy.

ON WAR CONTRACTS

The Roosevelt order stated that "possession and operation shall be terminated by the President as soon as he determines that the plant of the S. A. Woods Co. at South Boston will be privately operated in a manner consistent with the war effort."

The Murray Co., under supervision of the U. S. Army Ordnance Department, has been operating the plant since the seizure.

Today's judgment entered by Judge Ford reveals "that the company that operated the plant prior to its being taken over by the government, will now return and continue the production of war materials under government contracts."

The judgment includes the rental value, use of machinery, equipment, personal property and manufactured products. This does not include the Natick plant, which is owned by the state and rented to the Woods Co.

Maknassi, 50 prisoners were reported taken in a British sector.

Following up Saturday night raids on the docks at the Bizerte naval base and on Axis vehicles on the move east of Kairouan, Allied fliers bombed Sousse harbor and an air field near Mendenine, 60 miles from the Tripolitanian frontier.

"At least one ship was hit and damage was done to the air field," the communique said. "One of a small formation of enemy fighters which attacked our bombers was destroyed."

A 12th Air Force spokesman said the United States planes destroyed 28 enemy planes and damaged 17 others in the week through Jan. 22, against an American loss of 13 planes.

The week's toll brought the total of Axis warplanes destroyed by United States fliers in the North African campaign to 222 and 159 damaged. American losses totaled 110.

REVERE FLIER, MISSING SINCE OCTOBER, 1941, JAP PRISONER

Given up as lost in the Philippines when no word was received from him since the outbreak of war, the family of a Revere Army Air Force gunner has been informed by the War Department their son is a prisoner of the Japanese on the islands.

Moses "Happy" Rubinovitz of Walnut pl., Revere, Record-American-Sunday Advertiser circulation department executive, said he had been informed of his son's welfare by Adjt.-Gen. Ulio. The general's telegram read:

"Your son, Pvt. 1st. Cl. Samuel N. Rubinovitz, Air Corps, is reported a prisoner of war of the Japanese government in the Philippine Islands. Letter to follow."

This was the first word the family had received of the son's whereabouts since October preceding Pearl Harbor.

At that time he wrote his mother, Mrs. Helen Rubinovitz, from Manila informing her he had just won the light heavyweight boxing championship of the Asiatic fleet.

In a note to his father, accompanying the letter, Sam wrote:

"It looks as if we are going to have war—and we're a cinch to beat them."

Young Rubinovitz joined the Army Air Force three years ago. He is a graduate of Revere High School, 1934, and was an all-scholastic football player and a member of the baseball team. Later he played semi-pro football with the Garfield A. A.

YANKS WIN 7 JAP POSITIONS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—American forces on a general offensive in the Solomon Islands were reported by the Navy today to have won seven important positions from the enemy on Guadalcanal, to have killed 201 Jap soldiers and captured 40, and to have virtually wiped out an island base 190 miles to the northwest by sea and air attack.

The places captured, a communique said, were six important elevations west of the American air field and the coastal village of Kokumbona, where quantities of stores and equipment were seized.

This meant American front lines had been advanced two to three miles beyond previously-held Point Cruz, farthest known point of advance on the coast.

The front apparently is being pushed forward in an effort to bottle up and eventually wipe out dwindling Japanese forces on the northwestern end of the island. The enemy still holds about 16 miles of coastline on the northern side of Guadalcanal.

looked to me the wound was made by a gouge."

Norton also thought he saw a man running down the aisle, but it was dark and "it might have been a curtain fluttering."

AWAKENED BY SCREAM

Wilson said the scream awakened him and he looked out in time to see a heavy-set man running away. The man was dressed in a brown pin-point suit. Wilson said he pulled on his pants and shoes as fast as possible and jumped down. He propped Mrs. James up with a pillow and discovered her dead.

Then he ran to the rear of the train after the man. He discovered no one.

A porter, called from the car next to Mrs. James' sleeper, said no one had passed that way.

A trail of blood specks was found through the three cars to the rear of the sleeper. Police said they did not believe the trail had been left by Wilson, who had been spattered while lifting Mrs. James.

A brown suit was found among Waiter Funches' possessions, but it did not have a pin-point stripe. Funches said he had played cards with other Negro employes that night, retiring about 1 a. m. Police said he apparently still was asleep at 4 a. m. in a car far in front of Mrs. James' sleeper.

Tracks were found in the snow where the train stopped momentarily in Tangent, indicating a man stepped off the California-bound limited and swung aboard a northbound train. Police said, however, a brakeman could have made the tracks.

Dr. John Beeman of the State police medical staff said Mrs. James had not been attacked.

Baering Down On the News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
Distributed by International News Service

What we need down in Washington is the roll-top mind that can be slammed down on unfinished business.

Things down there are tangled up like string-talk in a laundry.

But, somehow or another, I think the same conditions exist in London, Berlin, Moscow and other world capitals.

Twenty-five years ago I wrote about President Wilson's cabinet, "The bones they pulled are bleaching on the hillsides."

NEW SAGANSKY JURY CALLED

In a move to prevent defendants from obtaining government evidence before trial, Dist. Atty. Foley and Clerk William M. Prendible of superior criminal court today were asked to call a special session of the Suffolk county grand jury for tomorrow in the Sagansky lottery cases.

Dr. Harry (Doc Jasper) Sagansky and 23 other defendants, four of them women, were rounded up in a series of state police raids in the smashing of what the attorney general characterized as a $90,000,000 horse betting and number pool racket.

If no grand jury action came on the cases meanwhile, they would come up for hearing on Wednesday, when the government would have to present its evidence.

ONE-DAY SESSION

The understanding today at the courthouse was, however, that indictments would be returned by the grand jurors, who ordinarily would not meet again until the first of the month.

In announcing that he had made the request for a special session, the State prosecutor said the session would be "to present certain aspects" of the horse betting and number pool cases.

This, he added, is "just a preliminary session" and is not expected to last more than one day. He said that diagnosis of the racket records seized in the raids, and compilation of police department records on lottery cases in the past several years, have not been completed as yet.

When they are completed, these records will be presented before another session of the grand jury.

SUMMONSES FOR 40

A short time after Foley and Prendible set about notifying the grand jurors—in the briefest notice ever given for calling a special session—State Detective Joseph Ferrari appeared in Superior Court and obtained 40 summonses for witnesses.

Half a dozen of the witnesses will be under subpoena to produce books and records.

Earlier today, the expected filing of a motion for a bill of particulars in bribery indictments against Sagansky and James J. Carrigan, Jr., Malden filling station proprietor, was postponed in Middlesex Superior Court until tomorrow.

HERE'S WHAT TAXES DO TO YOU

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—A friend of ours named Joe dropped by to ask what's what with all these deductions from his paycheck.

He'd been reading about how Congress is figuring on taking his income tax out of his check, too, in some kind of pay-as-you-go plan.

And the new price administrator had just predicted an increase of 6 per cent in prices this year.

And what would all this do to his way of living, please?

Well, Joe, we said, here's the situation right now:

The federal income tax, under present law, will take, roughly, 19 per cent of your taxable 1942 income total. Probably you haven't saved that much up, so it's got to come out of your 1943 income.

The victory tax takes 5 per cent of all you earn over $12 a week.

Social security takes 1 per cent of your entire pay, up to a total deduction of $30 a year. (Next year, unless Congress changes it, the deduction will be 2 per cent; and some planners want to raise that to 5 per cent.)

Many Americans are devoting 10 per cent of their income to War Bonds.

HOW IT HITS JOE

A great many people are paying 3 or 5 per cent of their paychecks in pension plans of government employment or private industry.

Many others are paying for insurance of various kinds through payroll deductions.

But, said Joe, "how about me?" He has a wife and two children. His pay is $50 a week.

Out of this comes:

$5 for war bonds.

$1.60 for Victory tax. (That's under the "wage band" provision—there'll be an exact reckoning at the end of the year.)

$1.30 to be put aside for his 1942 federal income tax (he'll owe approximately $68 under the existing law.)

$1.50 under a company pension plan.

$1 for life insurance under a group policy.

50 cents social security deduction.

50 cents (approximately) for a group hospitalization plan.

These add up $11.40 (that's about 23 per cent of his income.) They leave him $38.60 a week. We'll see in a minute how that compares with Department of Labor figures on living costs.

WORST YET TO COME

Now—suppose Congress enacts a payroll deduction system for income taxes. The figure of 20 per cent has been mentioned frequently. This undoubtedly would replace the Victory tax. And, in many cases, would mean an end to the voluntary 10 per cent for war bonds. Here's why:

In the case of our friend, a 20 per cent income tax deduction would take $10 a week off his paycheck. This would be $2.10 more than the total he is paying for war bonds, victory tax and income tax. His total deductions then would be increased to $13.50 for 27 per cent of his income. That would leave him $36.50 a week.

If he kept up his war bond purchases, too, he'd have just $31.50 a week left.

So Joe wanted a look at the available figures on necessary cost of living.

The latest revision of the Bureau of Labor Statistics' "maintenance level" was for Sept. 15, 1942. This standard was figured for 33 cities, allowing for regional variations in costs.

The top annual figure in this group for a family of four was $1731.88 (about $33.30 a week) for Washington, D. C.; the lowest was for Mobile, Ala., $1433.72 ($27.50 a week).

The halfway mark between the two extremes figures out to about $30 a week.

LIVING STANDARD RIT

What kind of living does this provide for? Joe wanted to know.

The "maintenance level" is based on a computation of the WPA defined as above the minimum of "subsistence level" (or "emergency level") of relief budgets, but below the standard of the skilled worker.

It is stated that it doesn't "approach the content of what may be considered a satisfactory American standard of living."

This "maintenance" figure covers food, clothes, housing, fuel and light for a hypothetical family consisting of a manual worker (one who wears overalls at work), his wife, a boy of 13, a girl of 8.

It provides for no household help, no automobile. This family would rent a four or five-room apartment or house, with gas, electricity and a small radio; use ice for refrigeration; read a daily newspaper, go to the movies once a week.

The food is figured for "an adequate diet at minimum cost." The family would pay for its own medical care. No savings other than life insurance are figured in.

Everyone's situation is different, of course, we told Joe. But in most cases the war s going to mean a lower standard of living. And a lot of war workers getting much more than they ever earned before are going to find themselves pinned down by the fact that the amount of goods and services they can buy keeps getting smaller.

Judge Shute Dies at 86

EXETER, N. H., Jan. 25 (AP)—Judge Henry A. Shute, 86, author of "The Real Diary of a Real Boy," died in Exeter Hospital today after two day's illness.

A graduate of Harvard in 1879, he was admitted to the bar in 1882 and appointed judge of Exeter Municipal Court a year later. He remained on the bench for 43 years, retiring in 1936.

A talented musician, he remained active in the Exeter Brass Band even in his late years.

Judge Shute took up writing when he was 48 and many of the episodes about "Plupey Shute" in his works were taken from his own experiences. Some of his books were "A Sequel to the Diary of a Real Boy," "Letters to Beaney," "The Country Band," "Farming It" and "A Country Lawyer."

He was married in 1885 to Amelia Weeks, who died 10 years later. They had two children, Nathalie and Richard. Judge Shute's second wife was Ella Kent.

GREW WARNS JAPS' ULTIMATE AMBITION IS TO INVADE U. S.

LEWISTON, Me., Jan. 25—Obsessed with visions of power far exceeding Hitler's wildest dreams, the Japanese war lords may attempt an invasion of the United States, and until their machine is crushed this country remains in dire peril.

Such was the solemn warning of Joseph Clark Grew, former ambassador to Japan, when he addressed the special mid-winter convocation at Bates College, during which he received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Joseph C. Grew

This afternoon the diplomat was scheduled to speak at Bowdoin College, Brunswick. Another engagement, with the Portland Club at Portland tonight, he was forced to cancel owing to the necessity of hastening to Boston as the result of the death of his son-in-law, Jay Pierrepont Moffat, U. S. minister to Canada.

The former ambassador cautioned his Lewiston listeners that Japan has the resources, strength and determination to become the most powerful nation in the entire world.

AMBITION TO INVADE

"Fantastic as it may seem, it is Japan's ambition to invade and conquer the United States," he declared at the convocation, at which degrees were awarded to 44 members of the senior class, 20 of them from Massachusetts.

Grew said that the openly-expressed ambition of highly-placed Japanese generals, admirals and statesmen surpasses even the megalomania of Hitler. "If we should allow them to dig in permanently in the far-flung areas they now occupy and to fortify those gains, it would be only a question of time before they attempted the conquest of American territory nearer home."

He also expressed concern over the complacency of Americans, who persist in regarding Japanese as a race of little men who are incapable of developing enough power to seriously threaten the United States.

"Intensive training, native courage and fanatical obedience to orders make the Japanese fighter a formidable enemy whom we must not underestimate," he said, pointing out that moral stimulation over victories in the Solomons and New Guinea is good but moral complacency may be fatal.

BARES FANATICISM

Ambassador Grew related, as an example of the Spartan training of the Jap troops, how an officer during a four-day maneuver attended by U. S. military observers before the war, marched his troops for 29 hours without a rest.

At the end of this grueling test, the officer forbade the troops to rest, but to the astonishment of observers, ordered them on patrol duty. His only explanation to astonished queries of the observers was: "My men know how to sleep; I am teaching them how to stay awake."

Grew said that Japan's great wartime strength, now increased by its Asiatic conquests, is due to the fact that the nation is totally totalitarian. "In war, Japan thinks and acts, labors and fights as a unit. Not even criticism of the government is tolerated," he said.

'LONG, HARD ROAD"

He warned that a long, hard road, "beset with blood, toil, sweat and tears," lies ahead, but that the United States will emerge victorious.

"Of victory, I have not one iota of doubt," he told the graduates.

SENATORS ORDER MANPOWER PROBE TO FIX SIZE OF ARMY

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (INS)—The Senate appropriations committee today authorized an investigation into the manpower resources of the nation with a view to limiting the size of the armed forces and giving Congress control over the whole manpower problem.

The committee probe will determine the number of men needed by the Army and Navy and the number of men required for farms and war industries to feed and equip the fighting forces properly and provide for civilian needs.

The investigation resolution was sponsored by Sen. Bankhead (D.) of Alabama.

Announcement of the probe came shortly after Agriculture Secretary Wickard revealed the government was planning to recruit a "volunteer land army" of 3,500,000 workers this summer to aid farmers in meeting the 1943 food goals.

Writ Sought In Cambridge Manager Row

Failure of City Manager John B. Atkinson to abide by a decision of the Cambridge City Council ordering reopening of police stations in North and East Cambridge was charged today by Councilor Thomas H. McNamara in a writ of mandamus to compel action by the manager and Police Chief Timothy F. Leahy.

The petition was heard today in Middlesex Superior Court by Judge Jesse Morton. According to the petitioner, Chief Leahy reassigned personnel of both stations to other duties on Dec. 9, leaving only one man at each division. These were later withdrawn, the petition claims.

At that time the chief said the move was made in the interests of efficiency and economy, and to close up gaps left by men entering the armed services.

McNamara told the court the city council, by unanimous vote, instructed the city manager to reopen the stations, but he failed to do so.

Judge Morton took the petition under advisement, commenting that the question of law on who has authority to open or close a station would have to be investigated.

They were Technician Bert T. McDonough, Engineer Corps, of Colburn rd., Reading; Technician Charles H. Gray, Engineers, of Petersham, and Pvt. Arthur Melanson, Engineers, Chatham st., Lynn. Two others of their squad were likewise decorated.

Citations said they all volunteered to undertake the repair of a vital bridge near Buna, New Guinea, under heavy enemy fire, last Dec. 28, to pave the way for an attack on Japanese positions.

With complete disregard for their own personal safety the five men started out in full view of the enemy and went forward under concentrated fire from three bunkers in a courageous effort to accomplish their mission, the citation declared.

Corp. McDonough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew McDonough of Reading, was a well known amateur boxer before he entered the Army in March of 1941.

SHARE-THE-MEAT TIP

Beans So Inexpensive

By MARTHA LEE

BAKED BEANS can be such an inexpensive dish, if you streamline your baking. That seems to be the newest slogan on the food front. Dried beans, you know, pack so much nutrition in such a small space.

They are an important part of the share-the-meat program and a good substitute for meat if served once or twice a week. They are an important source of Vitamin B.

Soy beans, which will be more abundant and easy to get in a month or two, are especially important for their "complete" proteins, the same as found in meat, and for their high calcium content.

But dried beans require long cooking and much fuel. So, share your bean baking. When three or four neighbors get together, each can take a turn at the all-day baking.

Here's a well tested recipe that you will find most helpful when your turn comes for baking. Although the recipe calls for navy beans, remember that many beans are delicious baked—lima beans, pea beans, marrow beans, kidney beans and many others. Here in New England we like to put a whole onion in the bottom of the bean pot before the boiled beans are poured in. If you haven't done so, try it and you'll find the extra flavor quite delightful. And notice what a rich brown prepared mustard adds in richness to the well blended flavor of the bean pot.

OLD FASHIONED BAKED BEANS

1½ lbs. navy beans
2 tsp. salt
¼ lb. sliced pork, or 4 tbsp. drippings
2 tsp. rich brown prepared mustard
½ cup old-fashioned molasses

Soak beans overnight. Drain. Cover with boiling water and simmer gently about ½ hour (until skin will crack on a bean when it is lifted from the water and blown upon). Do not allow the skins of the beans to crack in the boiling. Drain. Save water. Place slice of pork in the bottom of the pot (along with an onion, if it is to be used.) Add alternate layers of the sliced pork and the cooked beans. Into 2 cups of the water drained from the beans stir salt, prepared mustard and molasses. Pour over the beans. Add sufficient water to cover the beans. Cover and bake in slow oven (300 deg. F.) 5 to 7 hours—or at 325 deg. F. for about 4 hours.

(Note: If lima beans are used, 2 hours of baking at 350 deg. F. is sufficient.)

HALF AND HALF CROQUETTES

1 lb. ground beef
1 cup baked beans
1 onion, chopped fine
2 tsp. prepared mustard

Mix together. Shape into patties. Roll in bread crumbs and saute in hot fat. Makes 6 servings. These are very good cold and can travel to work or school in a lunch box.

BAKED BEAN SOUP

1 cup baked beans
½ cup cut celery
1 onion, minced
4 cups water
2 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. flour
1 to 2 tbsp. chili sauce
Salt and pepper

Cook the beans, celery, and onion in the water for 20 minutes. Force through a sieve. Make a brown paste of the flour and the butter. Add some of the hot soup, stirring carefully. Then add to the remaining soup. Thin with water if it seems too thick. Add chili sauce, season and simmer slowly for 10 or 15 minutes.

SANDWICH SUGGESTIONS

Mash or puree baked beans, or use whole. Mix with mayonnaise, and spread on buttered brown bread or rye toast. Desired seasonings are: Lemon juice, horseradish, catsup, mustard, tarragon vinegar, onion juice, or finely chopped celery.

Saute finely minced garlic in ham or bacon fat. Add cooked kidney beans that have been thoroughly mashed. Heat and spread on rye toast or wholewheat bread.

PILGRIM SANDWICHES

½ cup baked beans
½ cup shredded cabbage and carrots
Mayonnaise to moisten

Spread between brown bread or tender cold biscuits. They are delicious!

Career Girls, Attention!

Here's Rare Beauty Offer

By ARLINE GOULD

CAREER GIRLS these days aren't letting any grass grow under their feet . . . while they work and wait for friends, fiances and husbands to come flying home! According to reports from a Boston salon, they're putting one evening a week or Saturday afternoons to the best possible account . . . simply jamming the lists in a wonderful "career girl" beauty course . . . an all-over re-do that even includes personality pointers!

It is really an extraordinary buy, considered from every angle. And while it can indeed turn an ugly duckling into a swan . . . and will to order . . . most of the business gals who attend are the average neat and attractive type, who don't want to slip on their good looks and figure. And almost without exception, every one of these girls is delighted to find that she can look far more beautiful than she realized, once an expert eye goes over her for flaws and mistakes she could never discover for herself.

HELPS IN BEAUTY CARE AT HOME

Ten 2-hour lessons for $20 makes this career girl course a marvelous buy . . . creams and other cosmetics used in lessons are included, as is styling of the hair, though actual shampooing, setting, permanent waving or other salon work is extra, of course (but at a 25 per cent discount). Since one angle is to help make you more self-sufficent in beauty care at home, you're carefully taught complexion and hair treatment, including corrective routines for blemishes, or how to actually do the hair and make curls!

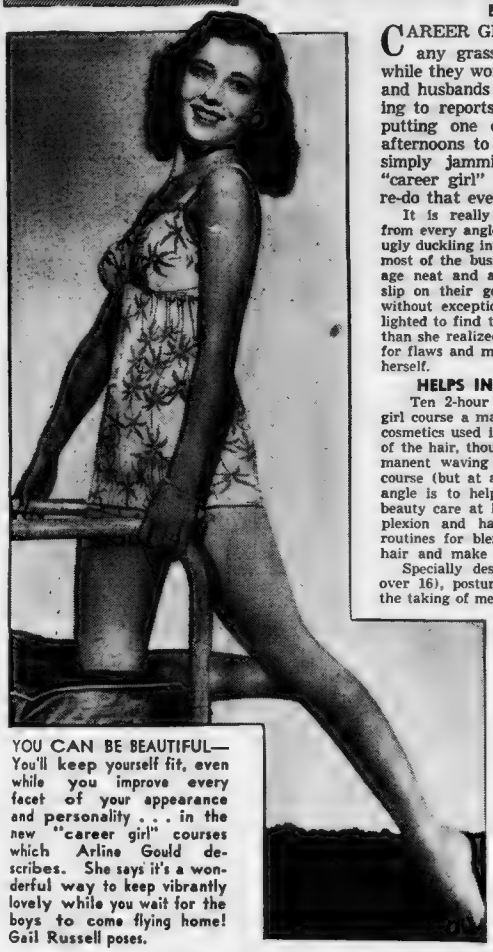
Specially designed exercises (in classes never over 16), posture work and rhythmic type, follow the taking of measurements and silhouette recording via shadowgraph . . . and this is repeated at the end of the course! You're shown clothes with relation to yourself, color, design and style . . . How to groom the hands and feet, with exercises to counteract fatigue or posture-affecting habits you may acquire in your occupation . . . and a diet is created for you.

NEW CLASSES STARTING

All you need to bring, besides an ambition to be much more beautiful, is a bathing suit and ankle socks.

You may pay the tariff in four equal amounts, the first four weeks . . . and new classes are starting now.

For all further information phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.



YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—You'll keep yourself fit, even while you improve every facet of your appearance and personality . . . in the new "career girl" courses which Arline Gould describes. She says it's a wonderful way to keep vibrantly lovely while you wait for the boys to come flying home! Gail Russell poses.

Old-Fashioned Tyrant Type

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: My husband and I have been married for 13 years and have four children. My mother, who lives about 30 miles from us, is ill and whenever I go to see her, my husband carries on.

His mother lives in the same city we do, and he sees her every day and I don't object. Now why should he get so angry when I go to see my sick mother? After such a trip, he walks around without speaking to me, and this lasts for several days sometimes.

I often take his mother places and do many favors for her, but he objects to my seeing my own mother. What is wrong with such a man? L. H.

We've all heard of the man who was weaned on a pickle but your husband seems to have been weaned on old-fashioned mother-in-law jokes. For a man to object to his wife going to see an invalid mother in an adjacent city, and then to go stalking around the house without speaking, labels him as the old-fashioned type of tyrannical husband which happily is becoming extinct.

You will actually be doing him a kindness, if you pay no attention to his sulks and tantrums, but go to see your mother whenever convenient.

Chaplain May Be Able to Help

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

A friend of mine has two sons in the Coast Guard and they tell her that they do not have to make an allotment to her, and she receives no help at all. Is this true? L. W. T.

Allowances to dependents in Class "B" are not compulsory, and these must show that they are partially dependent on the serviceman before he can make an allotment. If your friend needs the support, she may write to the chaplain or the special services officer of the outfit to which her sons belong, and state the facts in the case. Either of these men will see whether they can persuade these two boys to send an allowance to their mother.

SPIRIT OF SPRING

YOU CAN LOOK like the spirit of spring without garlanding your head with blossoms . . . just garland your neck with this freesia collar, which is Lilly Dache's idea, and nimbly turns into a hat if you just tie it on in the proper place! Lilly says the theme of her new showing could be the song title, "Hey, Good-lookin'" . . . and all her hats will make a pretty thing of you. This chartreuse straw muffin hat perched over the forehead is held on with two gold metal bird hatpins. -- ANNICE BRINK.

New Style Note

BABY QUILT IS DRESS CUE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

A DRESS as innocent and charming looking as a baby quilt, and taking its cue from same, is a new note for dress-up wear under a winter coat, right away.

Villa Zigmund, who make the finest kind of custom clothes, are the source of this idea. How it works is that baby blue crepe, color of the quilt from a crib, is used to make a dress, and the dress is trimmed with a quilted pattern to carry through the idea.

You can see how this baby quilt dress looks by consulting our sketch. The baby blue crepe is cut to make a moulded dress with graceful, loose sleeves, and an easy, simple skirt. The quilting which is expertly done, consist of long flower sprays that begin on the shoulders and fall in irregular pattern over the front of the dress almost to the hem of the skirt. The result is a delightful frock for parties and informal evening doings.

U. S. COAST GUARD TO STAGE INVASION AT F. D. BALL HERE

A spectacular battle-landing demonstration, graphically illustrating one of the most dangerous exploits of America's armed forces, will be staged by U. S. Coastguardsmen as an added feature of the already thrill-packed program at the President's Birthday Ball, Edmund J. Brandon, committee chairman, announced today.

The Coast Guardsmen will present their landing-invasion spectacle under genuinely simulated war conditions and will appear in full equipment, Brandon said, adding that the feature may prove the outstanding event on the schedule.

Another of the program's highlights will be the award of a $1000 War Bond door prize with every ticket holder attending having an equal chance in the drawing.

Demands of tickets to the Jan. 29 event in Boston Garden are reported as the heaviest in the history of the annual affair for the March of Dimes campaign against infantile paralysis.

More than 20,000 tickets for admission to unreserved seats already have been distributed for sale at $1 each, and beginning today every policeman and fireman in Boston will have tickets available, the committee announced. Reservations may be made by telephoning committee headquarters at the Parker House at LAFayette 4024.

Gas, Meat Shortage Headache to Zoos

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (INS)—Zoo directors in the Chicago area today bemoaned gas rationing, which has cut down attendance, and food shortages, which have made it more difficult to feed their charges.

Edward H. Bean, director of the noted suburban Brookfield zoo, said attendance there last year was 32 per cent under 1941. The zoo, he added, would like to sell a pair of hippopotami at $4500; a rhinoceros for $5000, 10 antelopes at $2500 each and a number of other animals.

31,000 JVA Gather Books In N. E. Victory Drive

Full weight of the 31,000 Junior Victory Army members in New England is expected to be thrown into the 1943 Victory Book Campaign launched by them yesterday to get reading material for our servicemen.

Corps officers as well as all individual members are urged to form wagon brigades, make house-to-house canvasses of their neighborhoods and gather all the books—good books in GOOD condition—that they can. Then carry them or haul them by bicycle, wagon or baby carriage to the nearest main public library or branch library.

Help of the Junior Victory Army to keep our soldiers, sailors and airmen from being homesick has been asked by the national headquarters of the campaign in New York and 200,000 J. V. A. members throughout the nation are expected to respond.

Alongside them will be Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Boys' Clubs and other youth associations.

Quality of books, rather than quantity, is sought, but a quota of 10 million is expected to be attained.

Here is what is wanted: Current best sellers and recently published popular fiction and non-fiction; adventure and westerns, detective and mystery stories, technical books on architecture, aeronautics, chemistry, machine mechanics, meteorology, photography, radio and other subjects; books of jokes and cartoons and small-sized edition of popular works.

No magazines are wanted now, according to John F. Connolly, executive assistant of the Massachusetts committee.

Start NOW to put over this campaign, boys and girls, and report your results to JVA headquarters.

To join the JVA simply send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. You will be enrolled. If, in addition, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, send a 10-cent coin (well-wrapped) in your letter.

Gold Star ★ Heroines

Behind the window flags with gold stars upon them are valiant women dedicating their lives to the cherished land their sons and husbands died defending. We are privileged to present some of these mothers and wives in a series of inspiring interviews. The first is Mrs. Edward B. Church of Brighton. Each day you will meet another.

By ALICE BISSELL

WAR, which seems to hang over our lives and our homes like a perpetual dark and wintry season, can be turned into a season of Spring, but only by the resources which we find in our own hearts.

This is the achievement of a mother whose life has flowered from one made barren by the death of her only son in battle.

In October, Mrs. Edward B. Church of Egremont rd., Brighton, received news that her son, Pvt. Thomas B. Church, of the U. S. Marine Corps, had been killed in action in the South Pacific.

"Lose thy life that ye may find it" are the words she has lived by since that day . . . and that she has found it, is proved by a visit to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Church live in a big house on a hillside. It is a house for a jolly family, and you think how the rooms must be full of echoes, and that the mother must trip upon memories every step she takes through the big rooms during the lonely day. Her daughter is married and living away.

MRS. EDWARD B. CHURCH, GOLD STAR MOTHER
Nurses Little Marjorie Collins Back to Health

You think about the day the telegram came, and you think about the silence.

You knock at the door, and a girl tells you to wait in the hall for Mrs. Church.

Oh! There is laughter and shouting! The laughter of little children, and the inviting odor of lunch cooking! A little girl with a pale face and brown eyes is perched at the piano, trying to play "Lavenders Blue and Lavenders Green," and a six-year-old crippled boy is singing as he leans upon his tiny crutch.

Mrs. Church, grey-haired with bright blue eyes, comes into the hall and, seeing your bewilderment, laughs and says, "Why, this is my family!"

Her son enlisted in January. Last July, when she had not heard from him, she got busy and made her house into a convalescent home for 14 children. She is the head of it, with two helpers to cook and clean. Mrs. Church takes entire care of the children, some heart-cases, some paralyzed, and some recuperating from severe illnesses. She entertains them and is on 24-hour duty.

"There is little I would want to say to other mothers and wives and girls whose dearest friends are gone or may be taken some day. But that is my point," she said.

"All the pretty words and the thought that we are all in the same boat are not much comfort when the blow comes. I would only say 'Cry, take a deep sigh each day, and set to work as soon as possible.'

"I have asked myself again and again . . . why did this happen? I prayed for him and for his safety and my prayers were not answered. But I do believe that we must have a deep conviction that it will work out in time, and that if some of our men must go, it is part of the plan."

Of course, Mrs. Church feels as badly as any mother, but she keeps her sorrow inside and does not bore others with her own suffering.

"I often think how ashamed he would be if he could see us moaning day after day. Try to do the things that

WHAT shape are your tires in? Keep in mind they have to last until July, 1944 . . . Love is a wonderful thing. But can't it be overdone? I had a fine warm, comfortable bed made for my pup, but he won't sleep in it. He prefers to sleep on my chest. He weighs 52 pounds . . . The Nazis, as previously reported, have invented a gun which fires 3000 bullets a minute. That's quite a gun. However, the United States has a gun which will soon be ready for action that fires 12,000 bullets a minute. And it is noiseless!

PLEASE NOTE: This year is the 50th anniversary of the automobile license. The first auto license was issued in 1893 to Elwood Haynes at Kokomo, Ind. . . . Recently told you that 7000 more dentists would be drafted for the armed forces in 1943, but neglected to state that according to latest figures there were at time of start of war only 57,028 dentists in the United States. Incidentally, 114 of these are left-handed . . . Britain is calling up men from 37 to 48 years of age for work in war factories. These men are drafted just as those are for the Army. Stated British Labor Minister Bevin: "Nobody between the ages of 37 and 48, no matter what job he now holds, has any guaranty in not being called up for war factory work." Something similar to this action is being considered here.

PASSING BY: Frank Scully. Author of the series of "Fun in Bed" books written for convalescents and shut-ins. Mr. Scully is the survivor of 36 operations. This, however, is not the record. An Indianapolis woman spent 20 years in the hospital, during which time she survived 54 operations . . . Edmund Lowe. Has been a film star for 25 years and is still in the top salary class. He once had a little dog named Cocktail which at the age of 12 became blind. The sympathetic Mr. Lowe then purchased a Seeing Eye dog for Cocktail. It was a touching sight to see the big dog carefully leading his little friend around from tree to tree.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—What became of Arthur Caesar? A—I guess you mean Irving Caeser's brother. He is still in Hollywood. Some years ago Arthur called on George Bernard Shaw in London. The impish Mr. Shaw looked at Mr. Caesar and said: "Let's walk around the square a few times until I get used to your face." A great kidder is G. B. S., but at heart a very kindly and sympathetic man . . . Q—What was Arthur Brisbane's salary as a columnist? A—In 1935 Mr. Brisbane was paid $260,000 for a year's work. His net income from all activities that year was $20,000 a week . . . Q—What is the world's record for a barber shaving a man? A—Rudolph Seissenberger of Vienna, the last man to hold the title of world's champion barber, shaved a man in 19 seconds . . . Q—You intimate that if people went in more for character study when choosing a matrimonial mate there would be less work for the divorce courts. What do you think a man should look for in a girl he is thinking of marrying? A—This query covers too much territory for the space allotted this department. Briefly, a man should look for a healthy girl who has simplicity, serenity, sympathy and a sense of humor. He should also keep in mind the well-substantiated claim that the majority of children resemble their maternal uncles and that the choice of a wife should be to a great extent guided by the characters of her brothers.

ASIDES: The German military theory has always been that defensive wars are lost wars. The fact that the Germans are now on the defensive indicates they are either losing the war or are cooking up plans for a huge offensive . . . "The Springer Spaniel in America" is a book my girl friend has been reading. Looking up from same last night, she said: "It says here a springer spaniel should have only a half a pound of meat a day except when he has been hunting. Then he should have a pound of meat. Our pup has been getting a pound of bronco beef (fancy name for horse meat) a day and doing no hunting. He heard my girl friend make the aforementioned remark and it seemed to me he turned a little pale. I suppose if he could talk he would say: 'Is it my fault I don't go hunting!' and then give me a nasty look."

SIDELIGHTS: One of the best health tips of all time was that of Ed Howe when he observed: "Probably the simple facts about health are that all of us have bad dietary habits when we have young stomachs and continue in them when our stomachs show the natural wear of long use. Stomachs weaken as do eyes; but we can't buy spectacles for our stomachs" . . . No Drop in Tax Rates After War is the headline over a business paper item. There should be a great drop in tax rates after the war. Why should the present generation foot all the bills for a battle to save this country for the future? In Britain they've spread the cost of a war over a long period. In fact, they're still paying for Napoleon's defeat.

CITES FIRM GIVING JOBS TO PARALYSIS VICTIMS

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, SUNDAY—Friday afternoon I spoke for the infantile paralysis campaign over the radio, and I have just received a letter telling me of one of the things that infantile paralysis victims can do to earn a living, which I think will interest my readers.

Nearly everyone these days is a radio fan, but not everyone sits and listens hour after hour because there is nothing else he can do. People who have had infantile paralysis must sit still, and many of them must also earn a living. It is interesting to find that a radio checking service of St. Louis employs shut-ins. Some are infantile paralysis victims, some suffer from arthritis, some are victims of spinal ailments, or bad fractures, or people who have lost hands or feet or who are blind.

* * *

ALL OF THEM can check radio programs and they do an accurate and thorough job. Their service reports are exceptional and cost a very small sum from the commercial standpoint. The ages of those employed run from 16 to 60. Two hundred infantile paralysis cases are already doing this work, and some of them are patients at Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

* * *

I WONDER how many people have really thought seriously about the suggestion which Senator Bankhead made in the Senate the other day, which was promptly supported by Senator Wheeler. At first blush it looked like an attractive suggestion.

None of us like to have our boys endanger their lives for us. It is not until you begin to think about the future implications that you realize the full import.

Other men can fight, but ours can produce in factories and fields and their families can live comfortably while they do so. Somehow, I think anyone making this suggestion forgets that young people have a right to live their own lives, and I hardly think there are many young men in this country who want to have someone else do their fighting for them.

* * *

NO, EVEN IF IT means dying, I think they would not accept the proposition. Should they accept, I wonder how long it would be before those who had fought in our places would decide that a nation so well developed in industry and so undeveloped in military achievement is more useful enslaved than free.

On the whole, I think I would rather accept the Army's estimates and have more soldiers than we need. Even if we go short on food, we won't starve. If we women have to work, well, some of us thrive on pretty long hours.

I think I'll feel safer and prouder in my country if we all carry our full share of the burdens

THE MARCH of EVENTS

By BENJAMIN DECASSERES

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

NOTHING IS MORE CHARMING about Americans than the docile way we take orders when necessity demands it and the careless, laughing way we break laws when we do not see the necessity for them or they tread on our liberty-loving toes. Now, however, it is the time for the American people to obey.

Mistakes, of course, have been made, and more will be made, in Washington; but I think that, on the whole, they know pretty much what they are doing on the Potomac. And not forgetting also that all of them down there are subject to human infirmities—even as you and I—and that, man being primarily and incurably a political animal, they are doing a pretty good job.

THIS IS A DEMOCRACY. The ultimate power rests with the people—you and me. So when today we temporarily forego for the good of the country many of our personal desires, whims and wants and obey the rules laid down by Congress and the Administration with a good-will and a feeling not of self-sacrifice but a feeling of exalted self-expansion, then we are 100 per cent Americans.

We are engaged in a mighty work of self-preservation. Unity in that effort is the one thing needful. And to have that perfect unity obedience is necessary.

ONE OF THE MOST sensible letters I have received on the historic fight Russia is making against the common enemy of the world, Germany, is from Emil W. Klimack, of Scottdale, Pa., who says:

"The spirit of the Russians in the war does not spring from their political beliefs, but from a patriotism which rises above all other feelings, forcing domestic problems into the background. Does the Russian soldier feel that he is fighting for Communism? I think not. Rather he is fighting for his home, his life, his country no matter what he thinks of its government."

ON NO OTHER GROUND can the remarkable defense of Russia be placed. No people would die by the million so willingly as do the Russians for a mere political or economic belief. They fight to preserve their nationalism, a doctrine that Communists have everywhere inveighed against in favor of "internationalism." Russians have fought the Swedes, the French, the English and the Japs in previous wars—and it was not for Communism or any political or economic belief, but for the "Fatherland."

HEROIC WAR WOMEN

would make him happy if he could peek in at you. Try to turn the energy wasted in sorrowing to service, active, helpful, selfless as the boys are."

Mrs. Church confessed that in a sense, these days are the most deeply happy ones of her life.

"It is sad indeed that war has been the way we have to learn. No one can see beauty until he has been hurt. Those of us who have lost our sons look out on the sadness and at home and over all the world. But it makes us think and appreciate every blessing in life . . . just as you do in Spring when you know the flower before you may not last through another day."

PVT. CHURCH
Died in Action

Her face is at once solemn and merry, and in her eyes are sympathy and humor.

"And I know, it is just as hard for everyone. It's just in the scheme of things that some must sacrifice their tires, some their money, some their fuel oil, some their sons."

Free from bitterness, she cares for the children all day long, watching them laugh as they fight for life. They are of different nationalities, and she talks to them about tolerance and about all the other fine things she put into her son's heart that made him want to serve his country.

"But you can feel it," she said. "You can feel more and more that people are losing themselves, at last turning to a Being greater than any power on earth. You can feel the fleetingness of life and love it more, and through the pain that seems so agonizing now, the new world being born."

That is what Mrs. Church meant about Spring.

JANE WITHERS GRADUATES INTO DRAMATIC ROLES

By Louella O. Parsons

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 25—I thought things were going along too smoothly between Sam Goldwyn and me. And sure enough we had our first 1943 run-in about a week ago. But you just can't stay mad at Sam—he writes such witty notes. So with everything hearts and flowers, the news from the Goldwyn front this morning is that Sam has signed Jane Withers for "North Star"—and hold everything the former little comedienne of the screen, the gal who has made 30 comedies, is going dramatic with a vengeance for the first time.

When Sam saw the first test Janie, who is now 17, made for the part, he couldn't believe it. He had always thought of her as just a little girl who played comedy roles. "Just in case it was an accident," said Sam, "we had better make another test." They did — and Jane was even better. She will be one of the Russian youngsters in this saga of Russian youth which stars Teresa Wright. What a cast Sam has lined up, with Ann Harding, Walter Huston and Walter Brennan. And, right now, Sam is looking for an 18-year-old actor to play opposite Teresa.

EVELYN KEYES is a nice, healthy, normal girl who looks about as neurotic as a high school girl. Yet, nestling in her heart is a burning ambition to play the kind of roles Bette Davis and Ida Lupino get. The closest she ever came was the part of the girl in "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" and ever since Evelyn has been keeping her eye out for something equally "different." Well, she gets her wish, for Columbia has just assigned her to the top role in "Nine Girls," a highly dramatic opus by Winfield Petit. The eerie yarn has a sorority house setting and Evelyn plays a girl named "Dizzy" who murders two of her classmates. Sounds neurotic enough for even Bette Davis

CHARLES LAUGHTON is a "Stage Door Johnny" if I ever saw one, for his wife, Elsa Lanchester, who is still appearing at the Turnabout Theater and packing them in. I went to see the show the other evening and, sure enough, there was Charles waiting to take Elsa home. He had just been at a Navy affair and had presented an American flag. "I felt a little self-conscious," Charlie told me, "because I haven't yet received my papers, although both Elsa and I have applied and hope to become good Americans." I understand that Charlie has been offered the role of Joan Fontaine's husband in "Frenchman's Creek." He has made a number of pictures over there and they are doing their best to get him. Let me say Charlie has worked untiringly for the war effort.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Ginger Rogers has one big booster in Hollywood in her mother, Mrs. Lela Rogers, who talked with me for a long time, saying that Ginger has written many letters to Congress. "I am proud of her," said her Ma. "She is an American and an independent girl who is not afraid to speak her mind. Ginger has always been political-minded and she has the right to express her own opinions. Why, she has had many telegrams from Congressmen in answer to her letters."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: All the long distance calls Anne Baxter is receiving come from Capt. Kenyon Cook of the Marines; John Carroll has been made a corporal, and is his mother proud? John and Susan Hayward are very much in love, but they have decided not to announce their engagement now—however, a lady can always change her mind; the Arnold Kunodys, well-known in Hollywood, have welcomed a son; Leota Andre and Bob Gregory are in a matrimonial frame of mind; "This Is the Army," opening Friday night, boasted plenty of gold braid and glamour girls. Pretty Joy Page, Mrs. Ann Warner's attractive daughter, and her best beau, were with Jack Warner. Hedy Lamarr, looking gorgeous, escorted by the devoted John Loder. What a stunning looking couple they make; the Arthur Kennedys have been talking to the stork and the date is February; Barbara Stanwyck has a sprained ankle and is hobbling about the "Lady of Burlesque" set.

CLARK GABLE SPENT practically all of his furlough on the M-G-M lot talking to his pals; Walter Pidgeon's Van Dyke in the test he made for "Madame Curie" is really something; Danny Winkler and his divorced wife, Jean Rogers, lunching tete-a-tete at the Beverly Tropics. She is still the only girl in Danny's life. Dining there before we went to the Turnabout Theater we saw Pat Dane and Tommy Dorsey engrossed in each other and Edgar Bergen and Dale Evans. The wardrobe Edgar is taking for Charlie McCarthy to the President's Ball fills several trunks — tails, morning and sports clothes and a suit to fit every occasion; Priscilla Lane's bridegroom, Joe Howard, has been made a captain; a scenario writer who chooses the noon hour to imbibe too freely has become a nuisance to both his friends and enemies; Lynda Grey, Paramount contract actress, is wearing Capt. Joe Wiesenthal's ring. They wed in spring.

N. E. Army Doctors Offer Weed-Out Plan

Two New England Army doctors have recommended a plan to weed out mentally and physically unfit Army selectees and volunteers.

Maj. Olon H. Coleman and Capt. David J. Flicker propose setting up a "probationary period of three months prior to final induction." In an article in the New England Journal of Medicine, the doctors say this would save the Army the cost of many hospital days, the government the expense of pension and disability claims, and would "spare selectees the mortification of failure."

Doilies are a "must" for every attractive home. Here's a new wrinkle—the center is done in filet crochet, the edging is worked 'round and 'round in a wide, lacy border. You'll find many uses for them. You can use this on just a plain mesh center, too, and very effective it is! Pattern 539 contains instructions, charts; materials required; stitches.

SMART SET NOVELTY

Carries Mirror for Bride

OFTEN A BRIDESMAID and ALSO a bride, describes Mrs. Randolph Marshall (Anne Grant) of Dedham—and her experience stands her and whatever bride she serves in good stead.

Saturday she was Gertrude Shaw's only attendant at the latter's marriage to Lieut. G. L. Chittenden in Leslie Lindsey Chapel, and as Anne arrived at the church she carried a round white lookingglass so the bride could do a little last-minute primping just before she started down the aisle.

Gertrude's glance at herself in the mirror was certainly rewarding for she was one of the prettiest brides of the season. Her fingertip veil was attached to a topnot of shell pink satin flowers and the only ornament on her billowy organza gown was an heirloom crescent shaped brooch of matched pearls.

Guests admiring the radiant bride and her handsome uniformed bridegroom (he's in the Naval Reserve), included Gertrude's three sisters, Mrs. George B. Blake, Jr., Mrs. Colin Canham and Mrs. John Coburn. Mrs. Blake, accompanied by her young son in boyish dark green leggings with jacket and cap to match, wore a fuchsia feather turban with her black dress. Mrs. Canham's hat was apple green to brighten her furs and dark afternoon dress and Joan Shaw Coburn wore a powder blue feather toque and simple black crepe dress.

The bride's cousin, Edith Shaw, who will be married in the same church next Saturday, attended with her father, Herbert Shaw, and Mrs. Shaw who wore a becoming slate gray velvet dress and matching veiled hat. Also in the fashionable group were Betsy Bradley, Julia Barbour, Marian Minot in a striking purple wool dress and matching velvet pillbox, and Louise Sargent accenting her blonde hair with a tiny black velvet bonnet boasting a big red rose on the tiptop of the crown.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Monday, Jan. 25, 1943

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You are of sturdy character, with courageous, pioneering inclinations—a foundation builder. You have mechanical ability, artistic talent which should be developed. While ambitious at times, are given to inertia at other periods. Try to strike a happy medium, even though it may mean sacrifices. Whoever earned a place in the Sun without sacrifice? Stubbornness a fault. Birthdate of Robert Burns, Scotch poet; Robert Boyle, philosopher.

Beauty hints by Arline Gould, daily in the Boston American.

FILM RIBBING FOR GLAMOUR

Glamour gives itself a terrific ribbing in Paramount's big musical, "Star Spangled Rhythm," which comes to the Metropolitan Theater on Thursday, and the ribbing is done by none other than three of Hollywood's most glamorous glamour girls . . . Dorothy Lamour, Paulette Goddard and Veronica Lake.

The three lovelies poke fun at their own glamour trademarks in a number entitled "A Sweater, a Sarong and a Peek-A-Boo Bang." It is all about three unhappy maidens of the silver screen who come out to Hollywood to emote and are burdened down with these mantles of allure . . . sweater, sarong and seductive hairdo.

Dotty, Paulette and Veronica share starring honors in their long-heralded all-star Paramount musical, with Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Fred MacMurray, Franchot Tone, Ray Milland, Victor Moore, Vera Zorina, Mary Martin, Dick Powell, Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken, Alan Ladd, Rochester and many others.

Forty-eight screen stars take part in this story of a Paramount studio gateman's dilemma when his sailor son, believing him to be head of the studio, visits Hollywood on shore leave.

For their song, "A Sweater, a Sarong and a Peek-A-Boo Bang," the three girls didn't cost Paramount a thin dime in the way of costuming which is probably unprecedented in the annals of picture-making. Dotty appears in one of the sarongs she wore in a previous picture, Paulette wears the bare midriff sweater and shorts from "Nothing But the Truth," and Veronica that low-cut gown from "I Wanted Wings."

There are a half-dozen other song numbers, notably "That Old Black Magic," "Sharp as a Tack" and "Old Glory."

"Street of Chance," with Burgess Meredith and Claire Trevor, is the co-feature.

Raid on Tripoli In Newsreel

The latest newsreel of the British Eighth Army, currently showing at the Old South Newsreel, shows the great Axis shipping center, Tripoli harbor, being bombed by the Royal Air Force; Rommel's North Africa Korps being harried, pursued and blasted as the British march on to victory. This newsreel, with Lowell Thomas as commentator, shows also the British hunting Nazi land mines with electrical detectors.

Other newsreel subjects include the first mid-winter graduation ever held at West Point with Undersecretary of War Patterson presenting the cadets with diplomas and commissions.

"STAR SPANGLED RHYTHM," due on the Metropolitan screen Thursday, is spangled with stars, 48 to be precise about it, and Broadway's favorite comedian, Victor Moore, in his impersonation of Paramount Studio's gateman, needs all of cute-as-button Betty Hutton's help.

Beauty Essential to Life Says Director of 'Follies'

"I see the theater in terms of Beauty," says John Murray Anderson, director of the new "Ziegfeld Follies," which Messrs. Shubert in association with Alfred Bloomingdale and Lou Walters are now presenting at the Shubert Theater.

"Beauty is as esential to life as bread. People must have something lovely to see and the theater provides that beauty for them." This credo of a great director has guided his every step since 1919 when he first achieved a measure of fame as the originator of novelty floor shows at Rectors.

But the specter of prohibition was upon the city and, together with Morris Green, he decided to take his art out of the bistros and put it on the stage. Together they produced the first "Greenwich Village Follies" which achieved such great success that it was renewed annually and ran into many editions.

It Stands Alone!

You'll never forget the scene in which Capt. Kinross (Noel Coward) bids farewell to his men. There won't be a dry eye left in the theatre.

Playbill For Hub

Tonight

COLONIAL — "SPRINGTIME FOR HENRY," Benn W. Levy's amusing romp, returns Edward Everett Horton, stage and screen comedy star, to the Hub for a limited engagement in his favorite role of the romantically inclined bachelor, Henry Dewlip. Tonight's opening will mark his 768th portrayal of this central figure in the popular farce.

Between pictures, Horton returns to the stage infrequently and chooses "Springtime for Henry" as his vehicle and Dewlip as his first choice of a stage role. The engagement will be played at popular prices with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. Included in the cast of this Henry Duffy production will be Gavin Muir, Marjorie Wilson and Eleanor Lawson. John Holden staged the play.

Continuing

SHUBERT—"ZIEGFELD FOLLIES," starring Milton Berle, Ilona Massey and Arthur Treacher and staged by John Murray Anderson and featuring some of the prettiest girls you've ever seen, continues through Saturday. Feb. 13. Billie Burke and the Messrs. Shubert are sponsoring the production in association with Alfred Bloomingdale and Boston's own Lou Walters. Jack Cole, Tommy Wonder and Nadine Gay are responsible for some slick dancing, the entire designing of which has been under Robert Alton's direction.

Prominently featured in the cast are Sue Ryan, Betty Keane, the Rhythmaires, Jerry Bergen, Imogen Carpenter, Jack McCauley, the Jansleys, Jaye Martin, the Vikings, Mary Ganly, Patricia Hall, Penny Edwards and Dixie Roberts. Miles White's costumes are in the Ziegfeld tradition. The unprecedented demand for tickets has caused the management to extend the engagement through the week of Feb. 8.

PLYMOUTH—"ASK MY FRIEND SANDY," the new Stanley Young comedy starring Roland Young in the leading role of the New York book publisher who is persuaded to give away his money by a radical, brash but withal charming young Army private, Sandy, played by Norman Lloyd. Second and final week.

February 2

PLYMOUTH—"THIS ROCK," a new comedy by Walter Livingston Faust, stage company executive, starring Billie Burke. Featured players are Nicholas Joy, Jane Sterling, Zachary Scott and Alistair Kyle. Others include Ethel Morrison, Everett Ripley, Roland Hogue, Malcolm Dunn, John Parr, Gene Lyons, Victor Beecroft, Muriel Taylor, Joan Shepard, Gerald Matthews, Ida Volkman and Lorna Lynn. The new Eddie Dowling production comes to the title from Sir Walter Scott's novel. "This rock shall fly from its firm base as soon as I," contained in "Lady of the Lake." "This Rock" tells of the plight wrought by 20 children evacuees from London's East End, transplanted to a quiet country estate of a wealthy naval family of shipbuilders on the River Tyne.

Jane Sterling Boston-Bound For Part in 'This Rock' Drama

Jane Sterling, who plays Billie Burke's daughter in the new Eddie Dowling production, "This Rock," coming to the Plymouth Theater Feb. 2, got her start in the theater by accompanying a friend to Lee Shubert's office.

While waiting for her companion in the outer room, Milton Shubert happened to wander through. At the time he was casting "Bachelor Born," and saw blonde, petite Miss Sterling sitting in the corner. "Come into my office," Shubert commanded. Hardly knowing what it was about, she was handed a part book and told to read the lines. Before she had emerged she had signed a contract.

"Bachelor Born," which was known as "The Housemaster" by Ian Hay when it played in Boston prior to its New Haven run, played on Broadway for more than a year and duplicated its success on tour. It gave Miss Sterling a fatal whiff of greasepaint and her fate as an actress was sealed. When she returned to New York she was cast in J. B. Priestly's comedy, "When We Are Married."

"Grey Farm" with Oscar Homolka was her next assignment.

Her most recent role was on tour with "Panama Hattie." In the Buddy de Sylva musical she played the role created on Broadway by Phyllis Brooks. During summers she has played at Elitch's Garden in Denver, at Mount Kisco, at Cohasset and at Maplewood.

In "This Rock" she plays an aristocratic English country gentlewoman who is brought face to face with the realities of the world when a group of twenty evacuee kids are moved to her home during the recent blitzes. A tough Cockney youth helps make her realize what a sheltered life she has been leading. Miss Sterling was educated in Switzerland and in England.

Solon Visions Ghost Towns

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Asserting that small businesses had been ignored by war agencies Sen. James E. Murray (D.) of Montana today suggested to the Council of State Governments the formation of an independent civilian supply administration and of a special state and federal liaison committee to consider small business problems.

Murray said war had changed the production so that, instead of small plants producing 70 per cent of the country's manufactured goods and 100 big plants producing 30 per cent, as in peace time, the figures were reversed.

"If this concentration is permitted to continue," he said, ". . . tens of thousands of concerns will vanish, ghost towns will rise all

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victim after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets contain food sodium and food iodine, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets are free from all harmful chemical drugs. They positively do not contain injurious ingredients of any kind.

THIS is a letter to a kid. I don't know where the kid is nor what he's doing. Nor even how he looks. Fact is, we have never met. Yet I know what he feels and I'm walking beside him tonight.

How do I know what he feels? And how can I be shuffling these many miles? Well, you see—I had a kid once, too. A kid who lived to be 21, battling pain and fear. Then slipped away in spite of all my tears. But tonight he's back with me, as I think of all those other youngsters who are standing guard through the dark and danger for the U. S. A. And the love and the laughter that are always stored in my heart for him are going out to them.

So it's hi-ya, kid!

Feel that arm over your shoulder?

Well, that's mine.

Feel that glow around you?

That's mine, too. That's the need which I and millions more are feeling in your young strength.

WE'RE LEANING ON YOU, KID.

We're leaning on you as you will never guess until you're as old and tired and discouraged as we are today.

That doesn't mean that we are lying down on the home front. We aren't. But the years have taken a lot of fighting stuff out of us. Even in the peaceful years our hearts knew many a battle you never experienced. We're tired now. We're leaning on you.

WE'RE LEANING ON YOU, KID, TO PROTECT ALL THE DEAR AND BEAUTIFUL AND SACRED THINGS WE TRIED TO PRESERVE. I KNOW—IT ISN'T EASY TO TRY TO BELIEVE IN ANYTHING OR FIGHT FOR ANYTHING WHEN YOU'RE WALKING SENTRY DUTY AT THIS TIME OF NIGHT.

But try, kid, try!

Try to believe in the nation we fought to make for you.

Try to believe in the decency we wished for you.

Try to believe in the victory we willed for you.

Sure—we made mistakes. We, let you down at times. We let ourselves down, too. We know depths of depression which only Youth—and Age—can know. We, too, are walking the sands, whether they be in Libya or Guadalcanal. Sands of bitterness and regret.

BUT BELIEVE IN US, KID.

BELIEVE IN OUR LOVE FOR YOU.

BELIEVE IN OUR NEED OF YOU.

BELIEVE IN OUR FAITH IN YOU.

YOU ARE OUR HOPE.

YOU ARE OUR SALVATION.

The night may seem dark as you pace your post. Your job may seem futile. You may be set with the thousand fears which come to youth.

But try to remember us.

Try to remember us who lean on you.

Try to remember how desperately we depend on your young courage these days . . . how hardly we lean on your strength.

We fought for you once, when you were little. Fight for us now when the shadows fall. Fight for this greater world we tried to bequeath to you. Defend our mutual dreams. Remember our love.

HI-YA, KID—CARRY ON!

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Hitler is reported to chew the carpets when the news is bad. He ate down to the nap when Tripoli fell and started on the window drapes.

New deep pile rugs have been ordered in anticipation of the next piece of shock news.

When he gets it he also will eat the rug cushion without syrup.

The war isn't over but it's passing the catch-as-catch-can stage. The Allies are really getting allied.

Pretty soon now we will have action on an Allied war council and a grand strategy plan and Adolph will learn that he hung the wrong roll of paper.

He will be slapped in the kisser with his own paste brush and decorated with a fancy border of lead.

This ain't just conversation . . it's stuff.

Thought for the day: Look for the big red letters in the headlines.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN Sports by Jack Conway

Derby Success Tribute to Sports

AS A CROWD OF 12,000 persons was thrilled by the special numbers and the skating in the Silver Skates Derby at the Garden, Major Walter Brown and other masters of sports promotion were convinced that if given a fair chance athletics will survive during the war and reach new heights when peace is restored.

TOM KANALY

The Silver Skates Derby has been one of the chief promotions of the American-Record and Sunday Advertiser. It has grown into one of the most unique ice carnivals offered anywhere as it combines the best in figure skating, special numbers and comedy with plain speed skating.

Thousands of people have attended the Silver Skates Derby since it was first started. During a war period, it was decided hundreds of youngsters who like skating should be given an opportunity to compete, has offered the stars in specialties an opportunity to display their grace and skill, and has furnished wholesome amusement for thousands of persons, many of whom are engaged in defense work or who have members of their families in the armed services.

It was this same feeling that prompted the All-America boxing committee to stage its tournaments since the United States entered the war. A year ago last December the Eastern finals were held the day after the Japs made their cowardly attack on Pearl Harbor. This season the same show was staged the Monday night following the Cocoanut Grove disaster. In each case the management felt it owed a duty to the young competitors and to the public to carry on in face of great difficulties.

The large crowds and intense competition in the grand national finals of each of these tournaments was proof of the wisdom of the decision to go forward despite adverse conditions.

Many Promoters Quit Under Fire

PERSONALLY I HAVE felt that there has been too much "quit" shown by our so-called leading sports promoters since this country entered the war. The professional and amateur promoters have been equally guilty. They have used the war as an excuse to get away from what they considered poor financial risks. In some cases the promoters who have pulled themselves into shells for the duration have made millions of dollars out of sports.

By their actions these individuals have proved they have no love for athletics, and that they would not continue in business as soon as it was certain they were unlikely to make money. There should be some law, however, to prevent these sports "quitters" from hiding behind patriotic excuses. There is enough misery during war without our people being troubled by these fair weather promoters inflicting their silly alibis on the public and trying to explain their actions by some government agency ruling.

Public Is Able to Get to Garden Without Autos

THE BIG CROWD in the Garden used the street cars, elevated service and steam trains. Hundreds of persons living in the downtown areas walked to the scene of the Derby.

This indicated that the public will get to the Garden and to any other sports arenas, ball parks or race tracks in the city when offered suitable attractions.

Eddie Mack and Jack O'Brien should do well with the ten-round bout between Larry Pacino of Roxbury, a former All-America champion, and Frankie Britt of Fall River at Mechanics Building Thursday night, while Rip Valenti will draw plenty of customers with Dave "Golden Boy" Andrews of Lowell and Frankie McDougall of Roxbury at the Arena on Friday evening.

By spring there will be new baseball interest despite the loss of star players to the armed services, and the Red Sox and Braves will find that when they play good baseball that the fans will get to their parks.

Suffolk Downs has already announced there will be business as usual at the East Boston track. Pres. Charles F. Adams has asked for 60 days of racing, but he will lift this figure to 120 days if Narragansett Park and Rockingham Park, due to restrictions on the use of autos, should fail to run their full meetings.

Apart from the feeling of pride we have in the fact the All-America tournament and Silver Skates Derby did not let the athletes or the public down during a war period, we are glad for Tom Kanaly's sake that the Garden is as popular as ever. Tom took over the job of operating the Garden when Maj. Walter Brown entered service, and as one restriction after another was put into effect it looked for a time as if Tom was in for a rough voyage in his new post.

What many people overlooked was the fact that American people are sports minded, and that they turn to athletics for relaxation during the stress of war as well as in peace.

I hope the success of the All-America tournaments and the Silver Skates Derby will give a little intestinal fortitude to the millionaire sports promoters who have been running to cover when it did not look as if they were certain to increase their fortunes. Do I have to mention names?

GREATEST SKATES DERBY THRILLS 12,000 AT GARDEN

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, JAN. 25, 1943

(Silver Skates Pictures, Summary on Pages 34, 35)

By MURRAY KRAMER

'Tis said that superlatives have no place in a sports story, but the Eighth Annual American-Record Silver Skates Derby must be written into the Boston Garden record books as the greatest event of its kind ever held.

And that's not the opinion of just one writer—a satisfied gathering of better than 12,000 is the proof.

Past Silver Skates classics have truly been great but never before has there ever been such spirited competition; as many laughs and so plentiful an array of spectacular talent. In fact, Ben Levias, chairman of the Derby, outdid himself.

It's almost impossible to know where to start in this Derby review as far as star billing goes since everybody did a whale of a job. So, let's divide the spectacle into two parts—entertainment and skating competition.

ADELE GREAT

Adele Inge, known as the world's greatest acrobatic skater, was just that and her amazing routines topped anything ever seen at the Garden.

Adele was in a class all by herself until a gent named Ted Meza came along and if he didn't steal the show he came close enough to warrant a "photo finish."

Ted first showed his impression of a man about town who was about "three sheets to the wind" and his antics brought the house down. He later appeared in a "Knick Knack" routine which summed up to a little bit of everything and that even surpassed his first number.

That takes care of Adele and Ted who really had it, and they had to have it for there was plenty of other great talent. Edi Scholdan, former Gold Medalist from Vienna, did two sparkling numbers and three Junior Misses each clicked in great style with individual routines that went over to the tune of ovations loud enough to be heard down in the train sheds.

SIMMONS WINS TITLE

This junior talent brigade was made up of 13-year-old Jane Weiss of Walpole; 11-year-old Alice Quezzy of West Medford and nine-year-old Sandylee Weille of Brookline. And we can't sign off in the talent division without a boost for the barrel jumping LeBels from Meriden, who were "tops."

Honors go to 22-year-old John Simmons, a defense worker from Stamford, Ct., who captured the coveted Ice-Capades Trophy for winning the men's senior two-mile championship.

Five years ago Simmons made his Derby debut and took a fourth, the next year he was third and in 1941 he was just nosed out of a victory. Last year Johnny didn't compete, but he came back yesterday and maintained his step increase pace by grabbing the title in the first senior race in the eight-year history of the Derby.

Just four laps from the finish the race settled down to a duel between Simmons and Lloyd Desroches of Providence. For four laps they raced as one and at the finish there wasn't a yard between them—it was a thriller all the way.

Team glory went to the Bay State Skating Club of Boston, which captured four first places out of the nine. Nine-year-old Jane Broadhurst started the Bay Staters on their way to the team award by winning the girls' midget event, and big brother Alfred followed with the boys' junior.

Andrea Large captured the girls' intermediate, while Doris Lindolm was easily best in the girls' senior event to complete the Bay State foursome.

The Mirror Lake Skaters from Fitchburg, last year's team champions, corraled two of the coveted awards with Oscar Boucher proving best in the midgets and Gerard Goguen lifting the boys' intermediate trophy.

And that leaves two titles still to be answered. One—the boys' juvenile which went to Leo LeBel, Jr.—the little barrel jumper and Meridan, Ct., and the girls' junior battle which was eventually settled by Lois Ann O'Connor of Worcester.

That just about highlights the card except for the laughs. Naturally, Ted Meza had the house in an uproar but the roars and real mirth of the day was furnished by the midgets. These little tots, ranging from three to six, stole the show as they do every year.

They were "terrific" and there was nothing funny as far as they were concerned. Seriousness was their keynote but in their intense desire to make those turns and finish up with the winners they provided enough fun to make their efforts more than worthwhile.

And that's the story—a one phrase windup of the Silver Skates Derby would be—"Greatest Ever."

We Thank You

Another Silver Skates Derby has been written into the books and no small amount of credit is due to many individuals who remained in the background but who played major roles in the success of this great show.

Through the courtesy of Supt. Manary of the Boston City Hospital, Dr. Peter Saunders and Miss M. B. Gorcynski, a registered nurse, were on hand for the entire show to administer any first aid that may have been needed.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin and Park Commissioner William P. Long sent Billy Mullen, director of recreation for the city of Boston, along to handle the public address system and he was great. Billy also had many of his assistants on hand to keep affairs running smoothly.

Police Commissioner Joseph Timilty had Sgt. George Hunter on the ice as a marshal for the eighth straight year and the sergeant did his usual effective job.

Then, too, all the officials who ran the Derby off in clocklike fashion without a hitch are deserving of mention.

Thanks to all of you for a grand job.

Last Rites Tomorrow for Jimmy Briggs

Jimmy Briggs, former New England featherweight and lightweight champion, who died Saturday, will be buried in Chelsea tomorrow.

Briggs participated in 200 ring battles, fighting such celebrities as Young Corbett and Terry McGovern. He knocked McGovern down four times in a bout here. Jimmy's last scrap was with Willie Fitzgerald at Bridgeport, and ended in a draw.

During the course of his long ring career, Briggs fought practically all the leaders in the featherweight and lightweight divisions, and showed his ring wares in such cities as Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Baltimore, Albany, Saginaw, Mich., and Portland, Me.

McKenley Sidelined With Pulled Tendon

By HERB FINNEGAN

Herbert McKenley (spelled with a K) received a gold medal from the Y. M. C. A. through the mail today, and that medal represented first place in his first race in the United States. Something to be happy about, all right. But the young West Indian was far from happy. A pulled tendon in his right leg had outbalanced the victory.

Winning the dash was truly a glorious achievement. McKenley, you see, had been heralded as the greatest sprinting prospect to enter B. C. since Frank Hussey of Olympic fame. Like Hussey his best distance is 220, and he was putting himself "on the spot" by making his U. S. debut in a dash short as 45 yards.

Yet he spotted some top notch sprinters as much as 3 feet and won his trial, semi-final and final with a burst of speed in the final five yards that had oldtimers mentioning him in the same breath with Charlie Paddock.

MAY MISS MILLROSE

"Nobody will ever touch him from 60 yards to 300," said veteran track critics who were amazed at the kid's "lift."

McKenley later started in the 300. Maybe it was a mistake because his nine-foot stride is not gaited for the small, sharply-banked "Y" saucer. And he had never run indoors before.

But it didn't seem so in the trial because he brushed past five handicaapped opponents on the first lap and coasted home to an easy victory. In the 300 final, however, he pulled a tendon during the first corner jam, and was forced to limp off the track.

He was disconsolate in the hospital room after the meet. "I let Mr. Ryder down, didn't I?" he kept lamenting. "I shoulda won it. I just couldn't—. O, I don't want to make any excuses."

Trainer Frank Jones rubbed and rubbed the injured right thigh, then taped it tightly as the attending medico ultimatumed: "Stay off it entirely tomorrow. Give it as much rest as you can. Walk only when you have to. And DON'T THINK of running again for a week, maybe two."

Millrose is only two weeks away, and the 60-yard dash McKenley had been looking forward to.

"Bet the relay doesn't go to Millrose now," said one of the B. C. group sadly. "First John O'Connor enlists, then Billy Ambrose, and now McKenley gets hurt." (McKenley can stride through a 50-second 440.)

HE'S A CHAMPION

It was agreed that McKenley would be fortunate if he could run before the B. A. A. meet on Feb. 13. Loss of two or three weeks' training might well ruin his entire indoor season. It would be a pity if Boston fans can't see him at his peak, Feb. 13, because he looks like the greatest thing ever to hit town.

As a schoolboy at Calabar High in Jamaica he had an unofficial record of 9.7 for the 100, 21.2 for the 220, and he has done 9.8 for the 100 and 30.1 for the 300 on B. C.'s none-too-fast cinder path.

Spectators would enjoy seeing him warm up for the dash. He goes through a series of gyrations which includes everything in the routines of Sally Keith and Bill Robinson. He's so low off the mark he seems shot from a cannon. He actually "rockets" across the finish line.

He is an earnest, willing youngster, game as pebble. His teammates think so highly of him that Frank Harris (second in the 600), Tommy Greehan (second in the dash), Jimmy Kelleher et al were chipping in their two-bitses so he could ride home to Newton in a cab.

WRESTLING SHUTOUT

PULLMAN, Wash., Jan. 25 (AP)—For the first time in the Pacific Coast Conference's northern division, a wrestling team was stopped without winning a point. Washington State swept week-end matches with an inexperienced Idaho squad, 36 to 0, taking five falls, two decisions and one forfeit.

27 SCHOOLS IN N'EASTERN TRACK MEET

Twenty-seven high schools have already entered teams in the 16th annual Northeastern University Interscholastic track meet, to be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at the Northeastern gym on Huntington ave.

Boston English, Latin and Trade have sent in heavy entry lists, while teams also have been entered by Dorchester, Jamaica Plain, Mechanic Arts, Roslindale and Memorial.

Entries have also been received from such perennial powers in the schoolboy track world as Rindge Tech, Lowell, Lawrence, Brookline, Medford and Melrose.

Running events for the meet include 45-yard dash, 45-yard low hurdles, and 300, 600 and 1000-yard runs, while field events are running high jump and 12-pound shot. Pairings for relay races, with each man running a 288-yard leg, are now being arranged, according to Prof. Edward S. Parsons, Northeastern athletic director.

A silver cup will be awarded to the high school that captures top honors in the meet. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded for first, second and third places in each regular event, and a bronze medal will be awarded to each member of winning relay teams.

MILLER GIVEN O. K. BY REDS TO TRAIN IN FLORIDA SUN

LAKE WORTH, Fla., Jan. 25 (AP)—Shortstop Eddie Miller, principal in one of the winters biggest baseball transactions, will be a "weather holdout" this spring but it will be with the permission of his new boss, General Manager Warren C. Giles of the Cincinnati Reds.

Miller, obtained by the Reds last month from the Boston Braves, will remain in Florida to take advantage of the climate until about April 1, two weeks after his club begins spring training in Bloomington, Ind., he said today.

"Mr. Giles thinks working out in the sun here will do me more good," said Miller, who is spending the winter here, "and I think I can report April 1 in just about as good condition as if the entire squad trained in Florida."

Miller said he plans to work out soon with some high school team in this area, but has already started a program to get into condition.

"I tossed a few baseballs around the other day," he said. "I am managing to shoot in the 70's in occasional trips around the golf course, and I took a fling at basketball officiating."

"That Boston park is tough for anyone to hit in," he declared. "I've always hit fairly well in Cincinnati, and that shorter left-field fence might help me."

A right-hand hitter, Miller was with Cincinnati for brief trials in 1936 and 1937, but had been with the Braves from August, 1938, until he was sold to Cincinnati in a deal that brought the Braves Infielder Eddie Joost, Pitcher Nate Andrews and some cash to boot.

BROWNS AIM AT FIRST A. L. FLAG

The St. Louis Browns are the only club in either major league which hasn't won a pennant. Under Jimmy McAleer, in the American League's inaugural year of 1902, the Browns finished second. In 1922, with George Sisler batting a sensational .420, the Browns were only half a game behind the Yanks on closing day. Since then their highest niches have been third under Dan Howley in 1928 and third under Luke Sewell in 1942.

If the Browns are ever going to win a pennant, 1943 should be the year because at latest rollcall they hadn't donated a key man to the armed forces. They still have Judnich, Laabs, Chartak and McQuillen in the outfield; McQuinn, Gutteridge, Stephens and Clift in the infield; Frankie Hayes ("Best catcher in the league"—Luke Sewell) behind the plate.

RICH WITH BROWNS

Their pitching should be improved with the acquisition of Woodie Rich, ex-Red Sox, who for a time was the AL pitching sensation of 1939. And the operation on Bob Muncrief's elbow is expected to restore the Browns' 1941 ace to pristine form. Had Muncrief been in top shape last season, the Browns would have been in contention from the start.

On paper, they're the only club that looks stronger than in '42. Glance at the losses of the other '42 contenders, all since mid-season.

Red Sox—Williams, DiMaggio, Pesky, Finney, Wagner, Butland.

Yankees—Joe DiMaggio (going), Ruffing, Rizzuto, Henrich, Hassett, Rolfe, Selkirk.

Detroit—Tebbetts, Benton, McCosky, Hitchcock, Meyer, Franklin.

Washington had little to offer last year with Travis and Lewis in the Army and will have less this season with Sid Hudson, Bruce Campbell and Al Evans also gone. The White Sox had little to offer last year even before they lost taft Wright and Johnny Rigney and will have less this season with Ted Lyons, Bob Kennedy and Leo Wells also gone.

MAJESKI, ETTEN CAN HIT

The A's had little to offer last year with Sam Chapman, Al Brancato, Benny McCoy and Don Richmond in the service and will have less this season with Phil Marchildon, Jack Wallaesa and Jack Knott also gone.

Woody Rich
With Winning Team

Detroit had little to offer last year with Hank Greenberg and Pat Mullin in the Army, and though it should get fine pitching this season its outfield will be far below standard with McCosky gone and its infield will be semi-pro for the third straight season.

The Red Sox won't be bad even though they have lost their outfield and shortstop. Eddie Lake from Sacramento is a powerful little hitter and will be a favorite here. He's fast as Pesky, too. Lupien at first, Doerr at second, Tabor or Newsome at third round out a Grade A infield. The pitching would seem to be adequate. But they don't rate with the Browns.

Cleveland, losing only Jim Hegan since last September, should give the Browns some competition, and the Yanks will be particularly dangerous even without Joe DiMag, Henrich and Rizzuto.

Nick Etten should hit better than Hassett and Henry Majeski may be the best hitting third baseman in the loop. Bill Johnson had a grand year at short for Newark and is good enough to play in the AL. Even if he should fall down, Frankie Crosetti will be around after the first month.

SOX BATTLE FOR THIRD

The Yanks still have Keller and Gordon, and that is something to start with. They still have Pitchers Bonham, Chandler, Donald, Borowy and a southpaw named Tommy Byrne coming up from Newark who'll stick. They'll be dangerous all year long.

The Browns, however, are distinctly the class. They have lost no great shortstop like the Yanks and Red Sox. They have lost no DiMaggio, no Williams.

Their McQuinn, Clift, Laabs and Hayes are still young enough to play high class baseball, and the odor of pennant money may set them ablaze. Their Stephens, Judnich, Chartak, etc., should continue to improve.

It looks very much like their year with the Yanks furnishing the main opposition, Cleveland and the Red Sox battling for third. The Tigers, White Sox, A's and Washington probably will finish as they did a year ago.

Joe Choynski, Ring Veteran, Dies at 74

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 25 (INS)—Joe Choynski, 74, veteran heavyweight fighter of the bare knuckle days of 1884, died today in Cincinnati after a year's illness.

In his 20-year career as a fighter, Choynski fought eight champions. They were John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Creedon, Kid McCoy, Jim Jeffries, Pete Maher and Jack Johnson.

He first met John L. Sullivan at the age of 16 and later fought him three other times. His greatest fight was against Jim Corbett. Choynski was not a killer, but fought Corbett style.

He leaves his widow and a brother Morris of Chicago.

Detroit 'Grand Old Man of Sports' Dies

DETROIT, Jan. 25 (AP)—Tom McMahon, 80, often called Detroit's "Grand Old Man of Sports," died today after a week's illness.

McMahon won the U. S. middleweight wrestling championship in 1887 and was an oarsman of note in the 80's. As manager of the Bloomington Reds of the old Three-Eye Baseball League he fostered the career of a rookie pitcher named Clark Griffith, now president of the Senators.

ICE OFFICIALS MADE SMYTHE SEE RED

(This is another in a series of hockey stories by Bill Grimes about the colorful feud between Art Ross of the Bruins and Connie Smythe of the Maple Leafs.)

By BILL GRIMES

A couple of years after the opening of the Boston Garden, the Toronto Maple Leafs came to town to clash with the Bruins. In those days it was an impossibility to get Conn Smythe to admit that any club, particularly the Bruins, ever beat the Maple Leafs, regardless of the score. It was always the officials, according to Smythe, that brought about Toronto defeats.

On this particular night, we came into the Garden with Smythe. And, as usual, Conn had a chip on his shoulder. We were both late getting on the job that evening and when we arrived at the Garden, the teams were on the ice.

"I'll bet you Toronto gets the first penalty" yelled Smythe. "They can't miss. I can feel it in my bones."

The Garden was jammed to the doors and we have considerable trouble getting around to the door leading to the aisle to the visitors' bench.

CHABOT IN GUARD HOUSE

It must have taken a couple of minutes to get inside. When we finally got in to the clear and could see the players, "King" Clancy was playing goal for Toronto, and the score read Boston 3, Toronto 0.

"What did I tell you" screamed Smythe. "They've penalized Chabot."

And he was correct. We learned later that about a minute after the opening face-off Cooney Weiland skated across the mouth of the Maple Leaf cage, and Lorne Chabot, the goalie, tripped him, and Referee Bill Stewart hung a two-minute penalty on the net guardian.

CLANCY IN NET

When Chabot was sent to the penalty box Coach Irvin sent Alex Levinsky into the nets. Alex lasted for one shot. It was a goal. Then he was replaced by "Red" Horner, who was no improvement and the Bruins were out in front, 2 to 0.

At that point, "King" Clancy raced over to Irvin and yelled, "Put me in the nets, Dick, I'll catch those shots with my teeth."

So, in went the "King" and just as Conn Smythe spotted his prime favorite acting as a goal guardian, the Bruins scored again and before the Rossmen were able to do any more damage, Chabot's time expired and Clancy moved out to his defense position.

And, the game was practically over. But, Conn Smythe never misses an opportunity to call attention to what extent officials went in the old days in order for Boston to beat Toronto.

Old Dobbins Called to Help Racing at Oaklawn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 25 (INS)—Mayor Leo McLaughlin, who 10 years ago initiated the move to draw race horses to Oaklawn Park, was engaged in another horse roundup today, this time to solve the wartime gasoline and rubber shortage for the Feb. 22 opening of the track.

"I'm going to try to get all those who own 'old dobbins' to fetch them from the hay and clover fields, polish up the old harness and hitch them to any movable conveyance so that we can get the patrons to Oaklawn Park," the mayor said. "It should be easy."

Dog Track Boom Seen in Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 25 (AP)—There were indications today that Florida's entertainment circles, which slumped to a record low with the announcement of the pleasure driving ban, have adjusted themselves to conditions and are climbing back to their old pinnacle.

Most favorable sign was the announcement that the St. Petersburg Kennel Club will reopen tomorrow night, the first track in the state to bounce up after what appeared to be a certain 10-count. Seven-tenths of a mile from the nearest public transportation line, the oval closed Jan. 8, when the OPA outlawed its taxicab shuttle system from bus line to track. Now the management has obtained electric tractors to haul trailers over the shuttle route.

That the fans as well as the operators are accustoming themselves to new means of getting back and forth is evidenced by the report that bettors at the Miami beach dog track set a season record for attendance and play Saturday night. The same night the Flagler oval in Miami reported attendance and play figures second only to opening night, and the total of the two tracks was tops for the season. Patrons came by bus, bicycle and buggy.

The Jacksonville Kennel Club had its best Saturday since the driving restrictions were tightened.

Wings, Bruins In Clash Here

The Detroit Red Wings climbed back into second place in the National Hockey League standings today by blanking the New York Rangers, 7 to 0, in Detroit last night.

Even Defenseman Alex Motter, who seldom scores, made a solo dash and slapped the puck into the net in the first period. To gain the shutout, Goalie Johnny Mowers kicked 21 shots out of the Red Wing's net. It was Mowers' fourth shutout of the season, which virtually gives him the Vezina Trophy for net-minders ing honors.

The Black Hawks, in Chicago, increased their hold on fourth place to two full games by beating the Boston Bruins, league leaders, 4 to 3. Red Hammill blasted the puck by Goalie Frank Brimsek in the final period to score the winning goal for Chicago.

Detroit plays Boston tomorrow night in Boston Garden and a win would place them within one point of the Bruins in the standings.

LaChance, Denner Top Portland Card

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 25—Maurice "Lefty" LaChance will seek revenge when he tangles with Abe Denner of Boston, in a 10-round feature bout at the Exposition Building, Tuesday night.

In Denner he will be facing a classy performer who holds wins over Snooks Lacey, Jackie Wilson, former N. B. A. champion and Sal Bartolo.

Georgia Taintor Favored in Golf Tilt

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 25 (AP)—Georgia Taintor, the Rollins College freshman who piled up an impressive record in the winter tournaments last year, will be the heavy favorite in the Miami Country Club women's golf tournament tomorrow.

Miss Taintor, from Fargo, S. D., will be defending the Helen Lee Doherty trophy which she won last year at the Miami Biltmore Country Club.

B. C., GREEN IN HANOVER HOCKEY TILT

The Boston College ice men left the Hub today for their trip to Hanover, where they are slated to meet the fast skating Dartmouth six in the second of their pair of scheduled games, the first of which, the Indians won 14 to 2.

Although the game was originally scheduled for Jan. 28, Dartmouth requested the date be changed so that they might meet Princeton.

The B. C. line-ups have a change, and that is that Wally Fitzgerald, rugged spare defenceman has taken over the starting post from Alex Skene. This will be the first time that Fitzgerald, a former B. C. High all-Scholastic, has started a B. C. varsity game. However, Coach Johnny Temple feels that Fitzgerald is deserving of the opening assignment.

Johnny "Putto" Murphy will be playing his last game for the Eagles, as he has received his orders from the Army Air Corps and will leave shortly.

There also is a change in the Dartmouth lineup, that being Roger Thayer, Indian freshman, who will open in the center position instead of Dick Rondeau, who was injured in practice last week.

MARINE TO ACCEPT TROPHY FOR CORP. ROSS

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (INS)—The Edward J. Neil Memorial Trophy, which was awarded by the New York Boxing Writers' Ass'n to Corp. Barney Ross for the ex-ringman's heroic 14-hour stand at Guadalcanal, will be accepted for the one-time lightweight champ, Feb. 17, by Col. Harvey L. Miller of the United States Marine Corps, it was revealed today.

In making the announcement, Lieut.-Gen. Thomas Holcomb, commander of the Marine Corps, said Col. Miller was authorized to take a four-day leave to accept the trophy, and to forward it after the presentation ceremonies, to the morale officer, headquarters, Marine Corps.

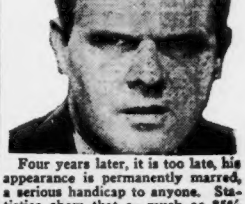
Col. Miller was once president of the National Boxing Ass'n, and upon completion of his term in 1940, was named permanent executive secretary of that organization. He has been ranked among the greatest boxers ever seen in the Navy, having held the lightweight and featherweight titles for years while he was in service afloat.

JOHN E. WARNER SAYS: "AVOID AGING 14 YEARS IN 4"

This young man has a fine head of hair and doesn't feel that he will ever be bald. Yet, his scalp is laden with dandruff, itches constantly and he loses a great deal of hair each day. Right now, a short period of the pleasant, low-cost, scientific treatment used by John E. Warner and Associates would rid his scalp of dandruff, check the hair-fall and normalize his scalp. He could keep this fine head of hair.

A year later the hair has receded at the temples and our young man is worrying about it. He douses his head with cure-all lotions and his scalp condition is growing worse. A free private consultation with John E. Warner would tell him that he could save the hair which he still has.

Three years later, it is too late to have a good head of hair but not too late to save and improve the appearance of the hair that remains through prompt treatment by John E. Warner and Associates. The Warner method of treatment is the most effective one because of years of research, study and experience.



Four years later, it is too late, his appearance is permanently marred, a serious handicap to anyone. Statistics show that as much as 85% of all baldness can be prevented if properly treated in time; but once you are bald you can never hope to re-grow hair.

Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. There is a separate department for women.

Hours: Mon., Wed. & Fri., 11 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. Tues., Thurs., Sat., 9:00 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The Warner offices are located at Suite 320, Little Building, Corner of Boylston and Tremont Sts. Phone Hub. 1705.
